Byrd Will Steer Inquiry Toward Inflation Curbs

Radford Voices Distrust Of Red Arms Proposal

By C. YATES MCDANIEL
WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—Sen. Arthur W. Radford, the administration's senior military adviser, today voiced blunt distrust of Russian disarmament proposals advanced at London.

"We cannot trust the Russians on this or anything," Radford told reporters. "They have broken their word too many times."

Stassen Reports Progress

The Soviet proposals were brought back from the U.N. disarmament subcommittee meeting in London Friday by Harold Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament advisor. Stassen reported that Russia and the Western powers were closer to agreement on a "first step" disarmament plan when the talks recessed until May 27 than they were a month ago.

Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, talked to reporters on his return from an extended flying trip to South America. He said the Soviet proposals were "only rumors" when he left Washington three weeks ago and that he would have to study them more carefully before expressing any views about specific points.

Radford's "Major Concern"

Radford avoided any direct answer to a question as to whether he had registered strong disagreement in administration councils with the trend of the disarmament talks, which in recent weeks have gone far beyond the original Eisenhower "open skies" proposal.

However, Radford said he had steadfastly maintained that his "major concern is that any agreement on disarmament and involving the Russians must be self-enforcing or subject to genuine inspection."

U.S. Captures Frog Olympics

ANGELES CAMP, Calif., May 19 (AP)—Beans, a lively California jumper, today won the Calaveras County International Frog Olympics with three hops totaling 12 feet 7 inches.

He is owned and trained by 15-year-old Caroline Voitch of Stockton, for whom he won $1,000.

Beans defeated more than 500 competitors, including more than 20 foreigners from Norway to Formosa.

Won Long Hop, the Taipei champion, didn't even qualify.

Rainstorms hampered frogs and cut attendance to 3,000. The frog jump, commemorating Mark Twain's fable, "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras County," usually jams 20,000 around an amphitheater that seats only 1,000.

The foreign frogs scarcely got off the ground. Most of them just sat, apparently confused. Their trainers, forbidden by the rules to touch them, whooped, yelled and jumped but could not encourage their charges to move more than three or four feet.

The second best jump, nearly 11 feet, was by a frog named Mr. Dill sponsored by the National Pickle Packers Assn.

Trooper Spares Tipplers Shock

LEXINGTON PARK, Md., May 19 (AP)—Tipplers at a St. Marys County tavern were saved a shock last night by a State policeman.

A 4½-foot copperhead snake—a real one—was spotted by Trooper Charles Herrman as it crossed Three Notch Road, just outside the tavern entrance.

Herrman got out of his cruiser and killed the snake with one shot. The tipping continued unabated.

Tulsa Spared Major Flood; Rains Let Up

Arkansas River's Unexpectedly Low Crest Also Factor

[By The Associated Press]
Flooded areas of Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas got their first look at the sun in many days Sunday, but thunderstorms dumped heavy rains over wide sections of the rest of the nation.

Skies cleared in flood-battered areas and the swollen rivers and streams of the Southwest began to recede slowly.

In Tulsa, Okla., the surging Arkansas River crested at an unexpectedly low level and caused far less damage in that city of 240,000 than had been anticipated.

The letup in the rains and the favorable crest on the mighty Arkansas prompted Civil Defense officials to announce that "The worst was over."

9 Dead In Oklahoma

But the Cimarron River, the chief tributary of the Arkansas, already had left thousands temporarily homeless, inestimable damage, and a toll of dead.

In all, the four-day Oklahoma floods caused nine deaths. No additional deaths or injuries were reported Sunday.

One of the hardest hit communities in Oklahoma was Bixby. Most of the 2,300 residents left their homes in the lowland town. One-third of Bixby was reported underwater. Three feet of water covered the town's business district.

Texas Storms Killed 65

In Texas, 32 days of drenching rain and tornadoes left damage estimated by insurance officials at more than 50 million dollars. The Texas storms killed 65 persons. There were only scattered reports of minor flood threats Sunday.

Kansas rivers also subsided under sunny skies. The swollen Neosho and Marais des Cygnes rivers were reported receding rapidly.

Wilson's View Recalled

Byrd said he was "tremendously impressed" with the contention last week of Secretary of Defense Wilson that inflation has added nearly five billion dollars to military costs in four years. Wilson said his department will have to spend $38,200,000,000 in the year beginning July 1 to get what $33,400,000,000 would have bought in 1954.

"I agree with Secretary Wilson that serious inflation is on hand," Byrd said. "The way to feed that inflation is to continue big spending. The way to stop it is to economize, balance the budget, make some substantial debt payments and eventually reduce taxes in all the individual brackets and on business."

Rescue Crews Find No Trace Of Buried Miner

LUKENS, Pa., May 19 (AP)—Rescue crews had dug 400 feet into the side of a mountain near the central Pennsylvania anthracite community tonight without any signs of a 34-year-old father of three trapped in a mine since Friday morning.

"We may get him in several hours. And then again it may be a day or so," said Robert Schneider, a state mine inspector.

The unspoken thought among the team of 40 miners working in four-hour shifts to clear the mine shaft, where David Snyder disappeared in a coal slide at 7 a.m. Friday, was that there was little chance of finding him alive.

Early today they reached a point 250-feet underground where they thought he would be. All they found was his shirt, which he may have removed and left there while he went on to work elsewhere in the mine. After reaching the 400-foot depth, rescuers concluded that Snyder must have been in what is known as a "gangway," a tunnel running laterally off the main shaft.

Negro, Ex-Captain In U.S. Army, Cops Acting Award

ROME, May 19 (AP)—A husky American Negro Army officer who was summoned from a post-war poker game to the gamble of a new career in motion pictures has raked in the "best actor" award of the Cannes Film Festival.

He is John Kitzmiller, 43, a modest, retiring engineering graduate of the University of Michigan and ex-captain in the all-Negro U.S. 92nd Division. His break came 11 years ago.

Today he is one of the most regularly employed actors in the European film business. He won the acting award at the Cannes festival, which closed Friday night, for his work as a pilot in the Yugoslav film "The Valley of Peace."

"My film career started one day in the spring of 1946," he recalled today, sitting on the terrace of his home apartment near the basilica of St. Giovanni in Lateran.

"I was playing poker in the officer's club near Leghorn when Italian film director, Luigi Zampa came in. He looked across at me and said: 'That's the man I want.'"

"I laughed and thought he was joking. But within a few days I had been given leave and was at work in the movie 'To Live In Peace.'"

"I love never looked back. 'I love it here. The people are delightful. There's no color problem—and I'm engaged to be married to a lovely Italian girl."

"What more can a man want? I haven't even been home to America since the end of the war."

Doctors Agree Little Benny Out Of Danger

MANORVILLE, N.Y., May 19 (AP)—Benny Hooper Jr., 7, who spent 24 terror-stricken hours pinned deep in a well shaft, smiled from his hospital bed today and said: "I feel better this morning."

And three doctors who examined him at nearby Bayview Hospital, Mastic Beach, N.Y., agreed Benny was much better and apparently is in no danger.

At Manorville, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hooper, the boy's parents, attended services at the Bible Protestant church and gave thanks for the "miracle at the well."

No Internal Injury

Blond, blue-eyed Benny was examined by Dr. Joseph H. Kris, anesthesiologist; Dr. Frank Calabro, Bayview's director; and Dr. William Wolins, scientist at Brookhaven National Laboratory, one of the nation's leading atomic research centers. They found no internal injury.

Kris said the boy was suffering from "pneumonitis, bronchialitis and sinusitis, all the things you would expect" as a result of the youngster's ordeal 24 feet down a well dug by his father in their backyard.

It would have been a "second miracle," Kris said, if these symptoms had not shown up.

Temperature Drops

Kris added: "He's in no danger as far as we can see. Last night he looked really sick. This morning he was quite happy again."

Benny's temperature last night was 102.8. Today it was 101.2.

It was the boy's first "thorough" examination, Kris said, because he needed complete rest prior to today.

Benny is expected to remain in the hospital for at least another week or 10 days.

47 Hurt In Rail Wreck

VIENNA, Austria, May 19 (AP)—Four cars of the Paris-Vienna express were derailed in the suburb of Huetteldorf today and two of them turned over. Forty-seven passengers were hurt, 10 seriously, and a 10-year-old boy playing nearby was killed by stones hurled from the roadbed.

Bride Of Three Hours, Killed In Auto Crash

KELSO, Wash., May 19 (AP)—A bride of three hours and two other persons were killed, and the bride's husband was seriously injured when two cars collided and burned on U.S. Highway 99 last night.

Dead were: Mrs. Janice Levitt Heller, 21, Duwayne Vernell Tager, 26, both from Portland, Ore., a man identified by cards in his billfold as Lavoy E. Smith, 25, Seattle.

The bridegroom, Paul Robert Heller, 22, of Portland, was reported in fair condition at a Longview Hospital.

Teamsters Suspend Talks With Montgomery Ward

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Teamsters Union announced today it has broken off contract negotiations with Montgomery Ward & Co. after only two days of talks.

It also denied again that there ever had been "collusion between the company and the union."

The special Senate Rackets Committee heard testimony last Tuesday which suggested the Teamsters might have made a deal with the Montgomery Ward management during the management's 1955 proxy fight with financier Louis Wolson. This was denied by John A. Barr, president of the mail order firm, and by Teamster President Dave Beck.

A union announcement here today said "we were unable to reach any basis for continuing discussions" on a new contract to cover

Jet Breaks Record

MCGUIRE AIR FORCE BASE, N. J., May 19 (AP)—The Air Force announced that a North American F100F Super Sabre jet plane today made a nonstop flight from Palm Dale, Calif., to this base in 3 hours 38 minutes, establishing an unofficial record.

Add To Rising Cost Of Living—And Dying

BALTIMORE, May 19 (AP)—Starting June 1, it's going to cost more to be born or to die—officially—in Baltimore.

Dr. Huntington Williams, commissioner of health, says fees for official transcripts of birth or death certificates will be increased from 50 cents to one dollar on that date.

The increases were authorized by city and State legislation. Dr. Williams said the fee hike was made necessary by increases in the cost of materials and labor.

Two Of Men Recaptured After Break

Daring Prisoners Overpower Six Deputies, Matron

KANSAS CITY, May 19 (AP)—Five prisoners, stealing their way from floor to floor, overpowered six deputies and a matron in a dash for freedom from Jackson County's skyscraper jail in downtown Kansas City today.

Two of the fugitives—all are Negroes—were recaptured. A general alarm was issued for the others, armed with a riot gun and revolvers seized in the break.

The men first surprised Deputy Gould Winn in their cell block on the 13th floor with a crude ice pick fashioned from wire. Handcuffing Winn to a steam pipe, they sneaked up on the other deputies and the matron, arming themselves as they went.

Hostages Locked Up

After locking up the hostages, they took the service elevator from the 11th floor to the street and escaped on foot.

Forty other prisoners in their cell block refused to go with them. The jailbreak was discovered when city police tried to put through a telephone call and could not arouse anyone. None of the hostages was harmed. Eight kitchen trustees were locked up with them.

The ringleader was identified as Emanuel Andrews, 28. Sheriff Arvid Owsley said he was awaiting transfer to state prison on a 20-year first degree robbery sentence.

Others Identified

Other fugitives were Charles Beasley, 20, Robert Brewer, 30, Robert Polk (alias Eugene Walker) and Isaac T. Sanders, both 23. Beasley and Brewer were recaptured, discovered sitting in a parked taxicab. They were armed, but gave up without a struggle.

Brewer was serving a one-year sentence for petty larceny; Polk was being held for trial on a first degree robbery charge; Beasley was awaiting trial on a burglary charge, and Sanders was being held for federal prosecution.

Owsley said the escape was due to Winn's carelessness for not having another deputy along. He had gone to the cell block to give the prisoners mops and buckets for cleaning up.

Andrews, who caused a previous disturbance at the jail April 20, had been in solitary confinement until two days ago.

Zoli Organizes Italian Cabinet

ROME, May 19 (AP)—Portly, balding Sen. Adone Zoli, 69, gave Italy a new one-party Christian Democratic government today. It was a minority Cabinet uncertain of parliamentary approval.

Zoli's solution to Italy's two-week government crisis returned to the single-party formula on which the late Alcide de Gasperi finally failed four years ago.

The Christian Democrats, still Italy's largest party, have only 262 of the 590 seats in Parliament, which must approve the new government. Since De Gasperi's fall, Christian Democrat Premiers Giuseppe Pella, Mario Scelba and Antonio Segni have governed with a three or four-party center bloc alliance.

Segni resigned May 6—after 20 months—when the Social Democrats, second largest party of his alliance, walked out of the coalition.

Zoli's government, if accepted, would stand by Italy's pledges to NATO, West European Union, and the Western pacts.

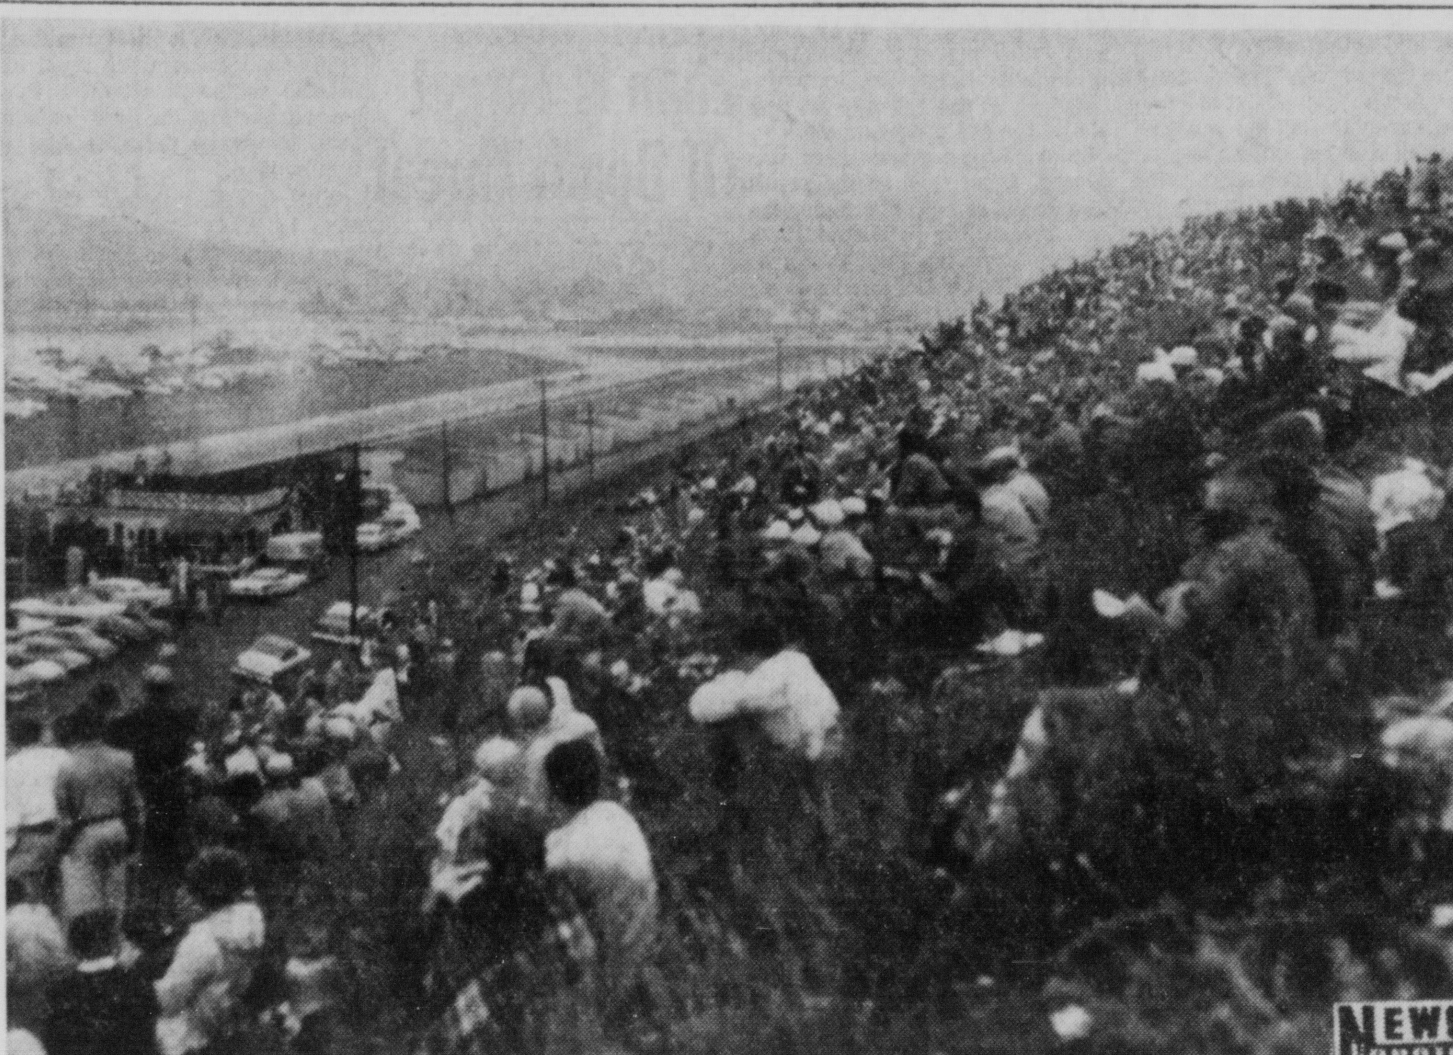

A-Test Set Today If Wind Favorable

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev., May 19 (AP)—Preparations went ahead tonight for exploding the atomic test experiment tomorrow morning. But nuclear scientists said the weather outlook was not promising for the project, postponed four times already.

The Nevada test organization weather experts will take a check on the wind direction at 11 p. m. PDT.

Ike Back In Capital

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—Driving most of the way in a light rain, President Eisenhower returned to the White House today after spending the weekend with his grandchildren at his Gettysburg, Pa. farm.

Estimated 45,000 See Sports Car Races

Part of the estimated crowd of 45,000 persons who turned out to view the sixth annual Cumberland Sports Car races yesterday is shown on the hillside overlooking the mile and one-sixth course at Cumberland Airport. Winner of the feature eighth race was Carroll H. Shelby, Dallas, Tex., who set a new track record by averaging 70.4 miles per hour in the 44-lap main event. Shelby was driving a Maserati 300S. GOP Claims Added Strength In Cities

Demos Report Gains In Many Suburbs

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Republican National Committee said today "one of the brightest signs" for the party's future is the development of its increased strength in the metropolitan areas.

The Democrats, in an unrelated statement, claimed "marked gains in many suburbs."

The Republican committee issued a detailed report on the 1956 election results by its research staff. The committee said President Eisenhower, in defeating Adlai Stevenson by 35,584,346-26,025, 158 last November, carried 25 of the 36 largest cities in the nation compared with his 17 in 1952 and Thomas E. Dewey's four in 1948.

The report said such cities have been "bulwarks of Democratic strength in national elections since 1932, some since 1928," and added: "In a presidential election the vote of these regions is extremely important because of their preponderant influence in determining which party captures the states with the large electoral vote."

The report said Eisenhower outpolled Stevenson in the combined vote of the 36 cities 7,135,872-6,882,358 of 50.9 per cent of the two-party vote. Although exactly comparable figures for earlier elections were not available, it added, this was about five points over the 1952 GOP vote were shown in major cities in all areas except the West Coast.

The staunchest Republican cities last November, and the Eisenhower percentage of the major party vote, were listed as Buffalo, 64.5 per cent; San Diego, 63.7; Jersey City, 62.3; Rochester, 62.1; Cincinnati, 62.5; Indianapolis 62.1; and Columbus, Ohio, 62.5.

The least Republican city was Detroit, 38.2, followed by St. Louis, 39.1; Atlanta 42.2, and Philadelphia, 43.0. Seven other cities carried by Stevenson were New York, Cleveland, Boston, Pittsburgh, Kansas City, Newark and St. Paul.

The report said eight cities carried by the Democrats in 1956: Baltimore, Milwaukee, New Orleans, Memphis, Birmingham, Toledo, and Jersey City.

The report also listed among Republican "gains" increases in GOP strength in the suburban areas of the big cities, but said there was a "significant decline" in Eisenhower votes in the four counties of Maryland and Virginia adjacent to Washington, D.C. It said the drop in the Maryland counties (Montgomery, Prince George's) appeared to have been among federal employees.

The Democratic statement about suburban gains in the 1956 election was made in announcing a two-day suburban symposium will be held June 7-9 in Bronxville, N.Y., with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as the chief speaker.

The Democratic announcement said women from these states with large metropolitan and suburban areas have been invited to the symposium: Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island.

Marine Pilot Killed

PATUXENT, Md., May 19 (AP)—A 25-year-old Marine officer was killed today when his plane crashed and burned in a wooded area near the Naval Air Test Center, Patuxent River, Md.

The Navy identified him as 1st Lt. Richard Allison of Richard City, Tenn., a member of Fighter Squadron 312 based at the Marine Corps Station, Cherry Point, N.C.

Report To Urge Tighter Laws On Lobbying

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—A special Senate committee appointed during last year's controversy over the natural gas bill has drafted legislation to tighten laws governing lobbying and campaign spending.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), chairman of the eight-member bipartisan committee, said in an interview today that a report making specific legislative recommendations will be submitted to the Senate by the end of this month.

He said that while there was general agreement on the report as a whole, some committee members plan to file individual views on specific points. They have been given until Tuesday to do so.

The committee was set up last year after Sen. Case (R-SD) disclosed that an oil company lobbyist had offered him a $2,500 campaign contribution during a Senate debate on a bill to exempt natural gas producers from direct federal regulation.

The bill was passed by the Senate 53-38, but President Eisenhower vetoed it. Eisenhower said he agreed with the measures' basic objectives but denounced what he called "highly questionable" activities in its behalf.

The committee's report is expected to recommend that the comptroller general be made responsible for policing the registration of lobbyists, who now are required to file reports with the clerk of the Senate and the House.

The most controversial part of the report is likely to be that dealing with election reforms. Emphasis is expected on requirements for full disclosure of campaign contributions and expenditures.

GOP Solons Defend Aid Program, Demos Rap It

Four senators, given an hour to discuss President Eisenhower's embattled budget, agreed today on the need for economy and then quickly turned to flailing and defending the foreign aid program.

Sen. Talmadge (D-Ga.) called, in a special network television discussion for elimination of all foreign economic aid and sharp cuts in military assistance.

Foreign aid, he said, is used to buy "bathhouses for Egyptian camel drivers" and "dress uniforms for Greek undertakers."

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) also questioned the wisdom of economic aid and called for halting what he termed "the giveaways."

Sen. Clifford Case (R-N.J.), on the other hand, argued that military assistance helps allies to maintain vital defenses "at a price much less expensive than we would have if we had to do it ourselves."

And Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said economic aid helps other countries develop to the point where they can support, with little outside help, their own defenses against communism.

With budget matters the big topic in Washington, there were these other developments today: 1. Sen. Ives (R-NY) predicted Eisenhower will have a "hard job" but will win the "battle of the budget" with Congress. Sen. Kefauver, on the other hand, said the economy drive is of such "Magnitude" Eisenhower can't win. These two senators spoke in separate, recorded television interviews.

2. Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) predicted a budget cut of at least two billion dollars, saying "the people are in a mood for it." He was on another television program ABC "Celebrity Parade."

3. Sen. Butler (R-Md) said in a statement that resumption of military aid shipments to Yugoslavia will further imperil Eisenhower's foreign aid program.

Eban Is Target Of Bomb Threat

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—A bomb threat today on the life of Abba Eban, Israeli ambassador to the United States, caused a hurried search of rooms at the Hotel Biltmore. No bomb was found.

Police were called to the hotel where Eban was scheduled to speak, after a man "with a foreign accent" telephoned the hotel and said: "Abba Eban, your hotel, speak room 108. Get him out or we put bomb in your place."

Eban was scheduled to address a luncheon meeting of the American Jewish League for Israel, a newly formed group which describes itself as an independent Zionist organization without political affiliation.

Eban arrived for the luncheon shortly after police started their search. Police turned up nothing after a search of the dais and the suite of three rooms on the first floor reserved for the affair.

Eban and some 250 luncheon guests were taken to another room in the hotel.

Baltimorean Found Shot To Death In Car

ELDELSBURG, Md., May 19 (AP)—A Baltimore man was found shot to death today in an automobile parked in a wooded area just off Liberty Road west of this Carroll County community.

Dr. James T. Marsh, county medical examiner, said the victim was Manville E. Kefauver, 43. He said death was caused by a gunshot wound in the abdomen. A rifle was found in the car by State Police, who had discovered the body after seeing the car from the road and investigating.

Marsh said the victim had been dead about an hour when found.

Mother-In-Law Held In Slaying Of Teacher, 23

BAGLEY, Minn., May 19 (AP)—A 40-year-old farm woman, accused of slaying a high school teacher who was secretly married to her teen-age daughter, was confined under guard in a hospital here today.

Sheriff Melvin Brustad said Mrs. Henry Sylstad will receive a sanity hearing before a probate judge here tomorrow.

Brustad said the woman admitted shooting Dean Olson, 23, with a .22 caliber pistol after Olson brought her daughter home from a movie Friday night. She has waived preliminary hearing on a second degree murder charge and will be bound over to Dist. Court, Brustad said.

The bride, Shirley, 17, is a senior and music student at Gonvick High School, where Olson taught music and band. They were married secretly in Moorhead, Minn., April 5, and were to have announced the marriage after Shirley's graduation this spring, her father said.

"Neither my wife nor I had any objection to the marriage," Sylstad said. "We both gave our permission. I liked him, and as far as I knew my wife did, too."

The sheriff said Mrs. Sylstad confronted Olson after he drove Shirley to the Sylstad farm home near here. Mrs. Sylstad told Olson she wanted to talk to him and they drove about a quarter of a mile on a country road. The girl had gone into the house.

Brustad said Olson was shot once in the lower abdomen, apparently while he was still in the car.

Mahoney Hints He Will Seek Top Maryland Office

BALTIMORE, May 19 (AP)—"I can't help but feel deeply indebted to the voters of Maryland," Mahoney announced yesterday that he plans to "take a major role" in the 1958 election campaign in Maryland.

The Baltimore County Democrat has been a major candidate in every election since 1950—twice for the U.S. Senate and twice for governor. He was the party candidate for Senate twice for governor. He was the party candidate for Senate twice but lost in the general election. He had two near misses in the gubernatorial primaries.

Although he has never been elected to public office, Mahoney has polled more votes than any other Democrat in Maryland history. And speaking of the voters yesterday, he said, "I've never forgotten their sincere, deep interest in me."

Mahoney said it was too early

"I haven't talked to a soul about running for comptroller," he said. And he pointed out that on "past performance" he is a campaigner for the top office. Asked if he would rather be governor or senator, Mahoney said:

"I got pretty well wrapped up in the Senate race in 1956. The Senate gives you a chance to help the welfare of an entire nation." But, in the next breath, he also had some nice things to say about being governor.

Three Of Family Die In Auto-Bus Crash

COLONIAL HEIGHTS, Va., May 19 (AP)—Five persons still were hospitalized today from injuries received in a spectacular bus-auto wreck on U.S. 1 last night that killed three members of one family.

Listed in "critical" condition at Medical College of Virginia Hospital in Richmond was Peggy Jo Crutchfield, 4, Luthersville, Md. The child was a passenger in a sedan in collision with a Greyhound Bus. Her mother, father and older sister died in the crash.

The impact of the collision forced the Norfolk-bound bus off the highway and down a steep embankment into the waters of Swift Creek. The wrecked sedan burst into flames on the highway.

Killed were the other members of the Crutchfield family, Earl J. Crutchfield, 35; his wife, Nanna Virginia, 27, and Patricia, 6.

GOP Claims Added Strength In Cities

Demos Report Gains In Many Suburbs

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The Republican National Committee said today "one of the brightest signs for the party's future is the development of its increased strength in the metropolitan areas."

The Democrats, in an unrelated statement, claimed "marked gains in many suburbs."

The Republican committee issued a detailed report on the 1956 election results by its research staff. The committee said President Eisenhower, in defeating Adlai Stevenson by 35,584,346-26,025, 58 last November, carried 25 of the 36 largest cities in the nation compared with his 17 in 1952 and Thomas E. Dewey's four in 1948.

The report said such cities have been "bulwarks of Democratic strength in national elections since 1932, some since 1928," and added: "In a presidential election the vote of these regions is extremely important because of their preponderant influence in determining which party captures the states with the large electoral vote."

The report said Eisenhower outpolled Stevenson in the combined vote of the 36 cities 7,135,872-6,882,358 of 50.9 per cent of the two-party vote. Although exactly comparable figures for earlier elections were not available, it added, this was about five points over 1952. Substantial increases over the 1952 GOP vote were shown in major cities in all areas except the West Coast.

The staunchest Republican cities last November, and the Eisenhower percentage of the major party vote, were listed as Buffalo, 64.5 per cent; San Diego, 63.7; Jersey City, 62.3; Rochester, 62.1; Cincinnati, 62.5; Indianapolis 62.1, and Columbus, Ohio, 62.5.

The least Republican city was Detroit, 38.2, followed by St. Louis, 39.1; Atlanta 42.2, and Philadelphia, 43.0.

Seven other cities carried by Stevenson were New York, Cleveland, Boston, Pittsburgh, Kansas City, Newark and St. Paul.

The report said eight cities switched to the Democrats in 1956: Baltimore, Milwaukee, New Orleans, Memphis, Birmingham, Toledo, and Jersey City.

The report also listed among Republican "gains" increases in GOP strength in the suburban areas of the big cities, but said there was a "significant decline" in Eisenhower votes in the four counties of Maryland and Virginia adjacent to Washington, D.C. It said the drop in the Maryland counties (Montgomery, Prince George's) appeared to have been among federal employees.

The Democratic statement about suburban gains in the 1956 election was made in announcing a two-day suburban symposium will be held June 7-9 in Bronxville, N.Y., with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as the chief speaker.

The Democratic announcement said women from these states with large metropolitan and suburban areas have been invited to the symposium: Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island.

Marine Pilot Killed

PATUXENT, Md., May 19 (AP)—A 25-year-old Marine officer was killed today when his plane crashed and burned in a wooded area near the Naval Air Test Center.

The Navy identified him as 1st Lt. Richard Allison of Richard City, Tenn., a member of Fighter Squadron 312 based at the Marine Corps Station, Cherry Point, N.C.

Report To Urge Tighter Laws On Lobbying

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—A special Senate committee appointed during last year's controversy over the natural gas bill has drafted legislation to tighten laws governing lobbying and campaign spending.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the eight-member bipartisan committee, said in an interview today that a report making specific legislative recommendations will be submitted to the Senate by the end of this month.

He said that while there was general agreement on the report as a whole, some committee members plan to file individual views on specific points. They have been given until Tuesday to do so.

The committee was set up last year after Sen. Case (R-SD) disclosed that an oil company lobbyist had offered him a $2,500 campaign contribution during Senate debate on a bill to exempt natural gas producers from direct federal regulation.

The bill was passed by the Senate 53-38, but President Eisenhower vetoed it. Eisenhower said he agreed with the measures' basic objectives but denounced what he called "highly questionable" activities in its behalf.

The committee's report is expected to recommend that the comptroller general be made responsible for policing the registration of lobbyists, who now are required to file reports with the clerks of the Senate and the House.

The most controversial part of the report is likely to be that dealing with election reforms. Emphasis is expected on requirements for full disclosure of campaign contributions and expenditures.

Three Of Family Die In Auto-Bus Crash

COLONIAL HEIGHTS, Va., May 19 (AP)—Five persons still were hospitalized today from injuries received in a spectacular bus-auto wreck on U.S. 1 last night that killed three members of one family.

Listed in "critical" condition at Medical College of Virginia Hospital in Richmond was Peggy Jo Crutchfield, 4, Luthersville, Md. The child was a passenger in a sedan in collision with a Greyhound Bus. Her mother, father and older sister died in the crash. The impact of the collision forced the Norfolk-bound bus off the highway and down a steep embankment into the waters of Swift Creek. The wrecked sedan burst into flames on the highway.

Killed were the other members of the Crutchfield family, Earl J. Crutchfield, 35; his wife, Nanna Virginia, 27, and Patricia, 6.

GOP Solons Defend Aid Program, Demos Rap It

Four senators, given an hour to discuss President Eisenhower's embattled budget, agreed today on the need for economy and then quickly turned to flailing and defending the foreign aid program.

Sen. Talmadge (D-Ga) called, in a special network television discussion for elimination of all foreign economic aid and sharp cuts in military assistance.

Foreign aid, he said, is used to buy "bathhouses for Egyptian camel drivers" and "dress uniforms for Greek undertakers."

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) also questioned the wisdom of economic aid and called for halting what he termed "the giveaways."

Sen. Clifford Case (R-NJ), on the other hand, argued that military assistance helps allies to maintain vital defenses "at a price much less expensive than we would have if we had to do it ourselves."

And Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said economic aid helps other countries develop to the point where they can support, with little outside help, their own defenses against communism.

With budget matters the big topic in Washington, there were these other developments today: 1. Sen. Ives (R-NY) predicted Eisenhower will have a "hard job" but will win the "battle of the budget" with Congress. Sen. Kefauver, on the other hand, said the economy drive is of such "Magnitude" Eisenhower can't win. These two senators spoke in separate, recorded television interviews.

2. Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) predicted a budget cut of at least two billion dollars, saying "the people are in a mood for it." He was on another television program ABC "Celebrity Parade."

3. Sen. Butler (R-Md) said in a statement that resumption of military aid shipments to Yugoslavia will further imperil Eisenhower's foreign aid program.

Baltimorean Found Shot To Death In Car

ELDBURG, Md., May 19 (AP)—A Baltimore man was found shot to death today in an automobile parked in a wooded area just off Liberty Road west of this Carroll County community.

Dr. James T. Marsh, county medical examiner, said the victim was Manville E. Kefauver, 43.

He said death was caused by a gunshot wound in the abdomen. A rifle was found in the car by State Police, who had discovered the body after seeing the car from the road and investigating.

Marsh said the victim had been dead about an hour when found.

Mother-In-Law Held In Slaying Of Teacher, 23

BAGLEY, Minn., May 19 (AP)—A 40-year-old farm woman, accused of slaying a high school teacher who was secretly married to her teen-age daughter, was confined under guard in a hospital here today.

Sheriff Melvin Brustad said Mrs. Henry Sylstad will receive a sanity hearing before a probate judge here tomorrow.

Brustad said the woman admitted shooting Dean Olson, 23, with a .22 caliber pistol after Olson brought her daughter home from a movie Friday night. She has waived preliminary hearing on a second degree murder charge and will be bound over to Dist. Court, Brustad said.

The bride, Shirley, 17, is a senior and music student at Gonvick High School, where Olson taught music and band. They were married secretly in Moorhead, Minn., April 5, and were to have announced the marriage after Shirley's graduation this spring, her father said.

"Neither my wife nor I had any objection to the marriage," Sylstad said. "We both gave our permission. I liked him, and as far as I knew my wife did, too."

The sheriff said Mrs. Sylstad confronted Olson after he drove Shirley to the Sylstad farm home near here. Mrs. Sylstad told Olson she wanted to talk to him and they drove about a quarter of a mile on a country road. The girl had gone into the house.

Brustad said Olson was shot once in the lower abdomen, apparently while he was still in the car.

Mahoney Hints He Will Seek Top Maryland Office

BALTIMORE, May 19 (AP)—"I can't help but feel deeply indebted to the voters of Maryland," he let it be known he wasn't interested in any lesser post, like comptroller.

"I haven't talked to a soul about running for comptroller," he said. And he pointed out that on "past performance" he is a campaigner for the top office.

Asked if he would rather be governor or senator, Mahoney said: "I got pretty well wrapped up in the Senate race in 1956. The Senate gives you a chance to help the welfare of an entire nation." But, in the next breath, he also had some nice things to say about being governor.

Although he has never been elected to public office, Mahoney has polled more votes than any other Democrat in Maryland history. And speaking of the voters yesterday, he said, "I've never forgotten their sincere, deep interest in me."

Mahoney said it was too early to decide now what office he'd run for in the 1958 primary, but he let it be known he wasn't interested in any lesser post, like comptroller.

Trailer, 345 Bunches Of Bananas Stolen

BALTIMORE, May 19 (AP)—Yes, Alfred Mitchell has no bananas. Mitchell told Eastern District police someone had stolen a trailer, in which he had stored 345 bunches of bananas valued at $1,500.

Police suspect the trailer was hauled away by a tractor, which was reported stolen about the same time in the southern part of the city.

NEW YORK, May 19 (INS)—"The strange and the funny things stay with you longer than the bad things," Maj. Gen. Archie Old, Jr., commander of SAC's 15th Air Force, said of his life as an airman.

"For example," remarked the spunky Texan who led the B-52s around the earth nonstop in 45 hours, and before that some of the great raids of World War II, "there was Tom Hines, of Charlotte, North Carolina, a great man. On the long ride in to a target, he'd have nothing much to do as bombardier, so he'd read one of those ten-cent murder mysteries.

"One day the Luftwaffe got after us real good. Old Tom was reading, I guess, but then I noticed tracers from his 50 calibres snaking 'way out in front of us. They hit a German who was coming at us head-on and he blew up. Immediately, Tom's voice came on the inter-com. 'I got him colonel,' he said to me, real indignant? 'The— he— made me lose my place!'"

There was also the day (the general said) when he had to get out of his seat in the cockpit of his B-17. The instant he cleared out, a German 88 shell tore up through the flooring, went right through the empty seat, and out the roof. "I'd have gone with it," he remarked.

"The good Lord had His arm around me on the Schweinfurt raid," the man who led that colossal air battle remembered, with gratitude still in his voice. "They sent up 700 fighters against us that day, after our own fighters had had to turn back.

"My ship got shot out of formation just after we dropped our bombs on those ballbearing works. I told the deputy to lead 'em home and I put the old '17 into a vertical dive. They knew it was the lead ship, of course, and they sure gave us hell for the next three hours. Both inboard engines were knocked out. Sure was a long ride home. The clouds that protected us from time to time got us lost the rest of the time. My chief navigator was dead in the plane and the second navigator was wounded. We had another dead boy with us, too. The rest of us were wounded.

Damage Suit Settled Here

A $25,000 damage suit filed by a motorcyclist against a Garrett County automobile driver was settled last week in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The attorneys announced the settlement after the jury had been selected and were in the jury box.

Gordon Raley of Frostburg had filed the suit against Howard Hetrick of Garrett County.

The cycle of Raley and operated by Raley was struck by the auto driven by Hetrick on Route 40 near the Allegany-Garrett County line near "Billy Goat Inn."

Raley, in his declaration, alleged he had lost his cap, was making a U-turn to go back to get it, when he was hit by the Hetrick car.

He claimed the Hetrick auto was too far to the left of the highway center line.

The amount of the settlement was not announced by the attorneys. E. Ray Jones of Oakland and W. Earle Cobey of Cumberland for Hetrick and Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson for the plaintiff.

Gas Company Seeks Ditch Digging Permit

A request from the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company for permission to dig a 650-foot ditch along Wiers Drive in LaVale was referred to County Roads Supervisor J. Walker Chapman Friday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Letters of appreciation came to the county commissioners from Mrs. Rose Loible and Dr. Karl W. Kolb, who retired from the health department. The commissioners had adopted a resolution commending them.

John W. Smith, who owns property at the intersection of McMullen Highway and Winchester Road in Cresaptown, complained to the commissioners about the lack of a place for pedestrians to walk there and about a water drainage condition. It was suggested that he consult the State Roads Commission.

"You know something, after a long time we broke through the overcast, and there was England right under us. We landed her at Gravesend. What a name! Funny thing about the 20 millimeter that hit me in the hand. (He briefly showed a thin white scar running the length of the blade of his right hand.) I felt a bump forming in the palm of the hand not long ago, after playing a round of golf. So I had a doctor open it up and, sure enough, I still had a piece of that shell."

Among the indelible memories was the shuttle mission in the spring of 1944. Old's 75 bombers hit an oil refinery south of Berlin and then completely bewildered the Luftwaffe—lurking along the normal getaway route—by flying on to Poltova in the Ukraine.

"The Russians sure made us welcome," he recalled. "Lot of saluting, handshaking and bowing when our ships landed and pulled over to the side in a line. There wasn't a cloud in the sky. The only thing in the sky was an ME-210 photo-recon. I said to the Russian general that we'd better disperse the planes and asked for nearby fields where I could send some of them. But that was a big laugh. The Germans, bah! that's what the man said.

"So it's night now, and we're toasting vodka to Stalin's health and Roosevelt's health, when all hell broke loose.

"Our planes were fish in a barrel. They hit one with their first bomb and never stopped. On top of that, they dropped thousands of butterfly (anti-personnel) bombs. I ran down on the field, cursing, running from plane to plane, sick. Somehow, never looking as I ran, I never touched a butterfly.

"In the midst of it all, a corps of Russian WACs marched on the field, singing, carrying shovels like muskets, and tried to put out the fires with dirt. It was like a nightmare. The butterflies blew a lot of them to bits. And no wonder. The next morning there was a shower, and instantly hundreds of explosions shook the field. The raindrops were detonating the butterflies.

"As I was saying, the good Lord had His arm around me..." (Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

Mrs. Bender Is New President Of Area WSCS

Session Held In
Frostburg Church

FROSTBURG—Mrs. Harry Bender, Flintstone, was elected president of the Hagerstown District, Women's Society of Christian Service, at an all-day session of the organization held at the First Methodist Church, Frostburg, on Friday, and attended by 254 members of the society.

Mrs. Rachel James, Cumberland, was named vice-president, Mrs. George Mullan, Shepherds-town, recording secretary, Mrs. Harold Green, La Vale, treasurer, Mrs. John G. Cook, Frostburg, promotion secretary; Miss Marion Dennison, Cumberland, secretary of the Wesleyan Service Guild, and the following were elected to serve as departmental secretaries of the district in various offices:

Mrs. Everett Culp, Cumberland; Mrs. William W. Beale, Martinsburg; Mrs. Raymond Crowe, Cresaptown; Robert Young, Cumberland; Miss Susan Smith, Cresaptown; Mrs. Walter Edwards, Cumberland; Mrs. Francis N. White, Charles Town; Miss Lavine Hood, Brunswick; Mrs. William Riggs, Cumberland; Mrs. C. Thomas Surbeck, Bunker Hill, W. Va.; Mrs. Russell James, Martinsburg; Mrs. S. B. Williams, Martinsburg, and Mrs. Warren D. Conner, Hagerstown.

Following an organ prelude by Mrs. Robert Barclay, and a reading of the meditations by Rev. Edward A. Godsey, pastor of the guest church, Mrs. Howard Duckworth, president of the Frostburg WSCS welcomed the delegates and turned the meeting over to Mrs. H. E. Nicholson, Brunswick, president of the district, who was in charge of the morning session.

A luncheon was served in the lecture room of the church at 12:30 p. m., following which Rev. Godsey installed the new officers.

Miss Elizabeth Overby, a young missionary on leave from the Methodist hospital at Nadiad, India, then spoke to the group about her work among the natives there. Her service, she said, consists mainly of training native workers in better health habits, methods of sanitation, inoculation, immunization and then tying the whole project up in an appreciation of the value of living a good Christian life.

Midland PTA Plans Supper

MIDLAND—The Midland PTA will hold its annual covered dish supper today at 6:30 p. m. in the school auditorium.

Members of the Board of Education will be guests.

Following the supper, a short business meeting will be held and officers for the 1957-58 term will be installed.

Delegates to the County Workshop being held May 23 at Frostburg State Teachers College will be selected and a delegate to the Summer Conference at the University of Maryland appointed.

Dates for a pre-school party, graduation and school picnic will be announced during the supper.

Piedmont Water Line Job Awarded

PIEDMONT—The contract for the new 8-inch water line from the reservoir of west end of Piedmont Hill to the junction of Erin and Fredlock Streets, east end of the hill, has been awarded to Arnold G. Clark, contractor, of Westernport, according to Mayor Rodney Baker.

Work is expected to start within two weeks.

The activities of the local Girl Scouts will continue as at present. It may take two years to set up the new council.

Subcommittees are meeting regularly to work out the details of the new organization. Mr. and Mrs. Alton Fortney, Luke, attended a meeting of the service committee held recently at Barton. A structural committee also met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fortney.

LONA CONING — A public play tournament will be held today at 7:30 p. m. at Valley High School.

Judges will be the Rev. E. Ellwood Carey, Mrs. Elizabeth Bolyard and Mrs. Virginia Steiding.

Soroptimist Club Planning Election

PIEDMONT — Annual election of officers of the Soroptimist International of the Tri-Towns will be held at their monthly dinner meeting at the Potomac Hotel, Tuesday, May 21 at 6 p. m.

The new officers will be installed with those of the Cumberland and Keyser clubs, Friday, June 7 at a joint installation banquet at Ali Ghan Country Club, Cumberland.

Action Needed On Air Safety

In a speech in the House of Representatives, Rep. Harry G. Haskell Jr. of Delaware said that in the field of air safety "outmoded and inadequate equipment and air safety techniques" must be superseded because they are not nearly good enough to meet the nation's visible future needs.

Studies have convinced him, Representative Haskell said, that the CAA, private and commercial air industry and the military are doing the best possible job with the facilities available. But, he is convinced, much more is required.

Representative Haskell has introduced legislation to establish an Airways Modernization Board to implement recommendations made in a survey for the administration.

This is a subject of great importance not only to those who travel by air but also to those who live along regular air line routes. Calamities such as the crash of two great air liners over the Grand Canyon last year are fortunately rare. But the number of near misses is frighteningly high.

Representative Haskell found that no less than 452 of near-collisions were reported to the Civil Aeronautics Administration in the last four months of 1956. And the hazard is rapidly increasing as the jet age develops with bigger planes and faster air speeds.

Both the aviation industry and the traveling public have a vital interest in seeing that a new air safety program is pushed with all possible speed. Congress should not long delay action.

Federal Security Program

The only justification for the President's $71,800,000 budget is that the security of the United States is in peril. Otherwise, there would seem to be no need to spend all that money. The President, in his speech to the citizens, calls direct attention to the dangers which face us.

Yet the American Jewish Congress has issued a statement to the Commission on Government Security which contains these sentences:

"The Federal Employee Security Program was initiated ten years ago under the stress of Communist expansion abroad and the threat of Communist subversion at home. At the time, the program was viewed as an emergency measure that would be subject to constant reconsideration and revision in the light of experience and continuing developments. . . ."

Then the American Jewish Congress says:

"After a decade of experience with the program, with our government strong and our people united, the time for a complete re-evaluation of the program is long overdue. The hasty assumptions on which it was originally established and which have guided it, despite some changes, ever since, must be replaced by more maturely considered conclusions, thoroughly grounded in our democratic traditions. . . ."

The assumption here is that the Communists have become inactive and that they are no longer seeking to overthrow the government of the United States whether by force and violence or by infiltration, penetration and corruption. The facts are otherwise. The American Communist Party has again become active; the Stalinists are again in control; American citizens continue to be involved in espionage activities and are being caught at it. Therefore, it would be foolhardy to relax anti-Communist activities within the United States for a day.

An inevitable social phenomenon has occurred, namely, that boys and girls, who in the 1930s found it amusing to be Communists or to play along with them, are in 1957 embarrassed by the record. The principal difficulty they encounter is that many Americans decline to believe that their conduct ever was as innocent as they now contend, particularly if they ever engaged in espionage activities.

Those who seek employment in the government are usually the most aggrieved. They are bothered by early affiliations, by membership in front organizations, by marriage to a wife who is a party member and similar misfortunes. But for them it ought to be made clear that the government payroll is too big and too costly and that nobody has to work for the government and that the government ought to resolve all doubts in its own favor, assuming that if a man cannot get a job with the government, he might try a dime store.

The assumption that the government owes a citizen employment, even if he is a Communist, has no basis in American political theory or history. Most Americans prefer to make their own way without government aid. During the days of the WPA, jobs were made to keep men from starving but today there can be no excuse for the government to hire three to do the job of one, or to keep those in office whose loyalty is questionable. All doubts of loyalty should be resolved in favor of the United States.

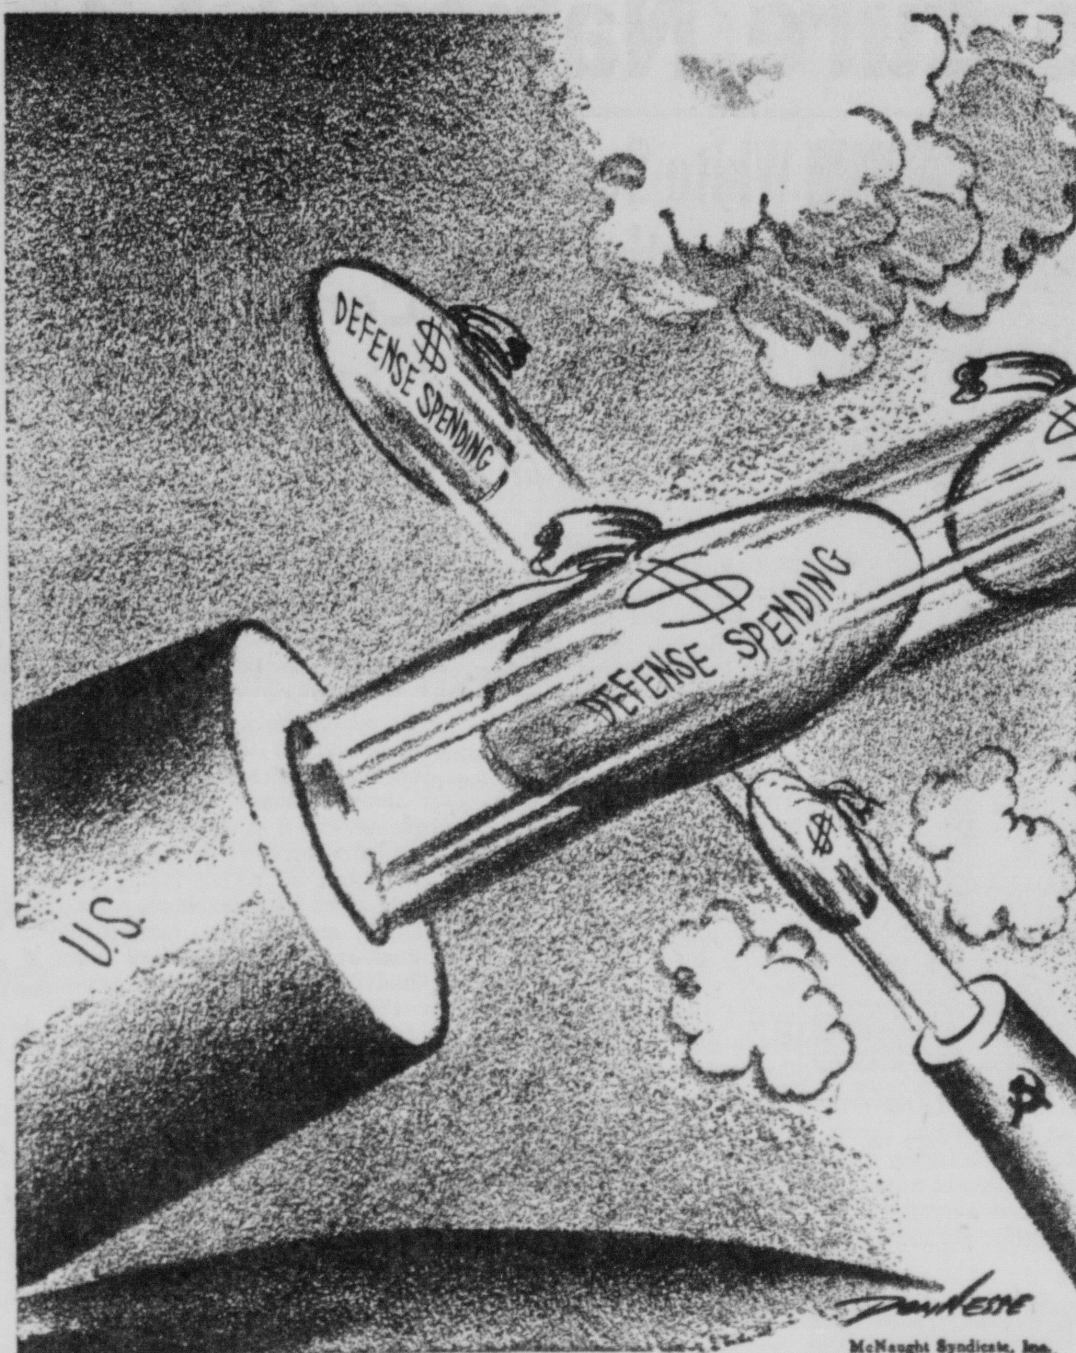

A to-do is made over the meaning of the word, sensitive. This is to be delicate an approach to the problem. Who is to determine what position is sensitive against an enemy such as Soviet Russia? Are we to say that a janitor in the Pentagon or in the State Department is not in a sensitive position? The American Jewish Congress memorandum says:

"... History has shown that the quest for a riskless security is futile and that democracy is more likely to survive and grow if it willingly accepts some risks in order to preserve unimpaired as far as possible the sole reason for its existence—the protection of the people's liberties."

That is a very broad statement and could, of course, not be upheld by historical citations, as there are none on the subject. There has never been an order of society called, "a democracy," until the current century when the term is bandied about loosely by all sorts of people, including many who do not believe in "the protection of the people's liberties." Also, regarding that there is too much loose talk because how can a country protect its people's liberties if it is conquered? We might ask that of the Hungarians.

The Cold (Cash) War

How Serious Is Maryland's School Problem?

By Stewart Alsop

BALTIMORE COUNTY, Md.

The big meeting hall in the new, ugly CIO office building in Baltimore County is divided in two by a high beaverboard partition. On the beaverboard there are tacked, not union notices, but childish scrawls, colored pictures of Maryland's birds and beasts, patriotic mottoes, and the like. And on either side of the partition you will find, not embattled workers, but thirty-odd healthy-looking, surprisingly well-behaved children.

These children in the union hall are what the President's school aid plan, the most important and most disputed item in his domestic program, is all about. In an attempt to get a first hand look at the much advertised school crisis, this reporter has just toured this county and neighboring Ann Arundel County, talking to teachers and school officials and peering into classrooms.

In a suburban area like this one, the reasons for the school crisis are easily visible to the naked eye, in the rows of small new houses stretching out like a vast tent city. We Americans have reproduced like rabbits since the war, and at the same time we have been moving out of the big cities into the suburbs as though we were fleeing a plague.

As a result, the two counties I visited, like similar suburban areas all over the United States, have tripled their school population in one decade. Despite a lot of new school building, there just are not enough classrooms to go round, and classes have had to be held in churches, or union halls, or any available space at all.

The question posed by the President's plan is this: Should the government provide funds to build schools, so that the children in the CIO building can move into a regular classroom? The National Education Association, which designated the two Maryland counties I visited as typical of the problem, believes that it should. I left on my expedition inclined to agree. But now I wonder.

I asked the bright, middle-aged lady teacher in the union hall how she was getting on here. "Why, it's just fine," she said, "it's nice and quiet away from the main school, and there's plenty of room for the children." Another teacher who might have been her twin, who was holding classes in a neighboring Baptist church, gave the same reply, word for word.

And this suggests one impression I brought back from my brief expedition. The school crisis is serious, and it could become a lot more so. It causes a lot of inconvenience and sometimes bad trouble. But it is not quite as desperate a crisis as it has sometimes been painted.

In some classrooms, the children are pretty crowded, but the classrooms do not resemble the black hole of Calcutta. In a few schools, a two-shift system has had to be adopted. This system is obviously unsatisfactory, and it has made it necessary to cut such extras as music, art, and sometimes remedial reading. But the children are still going to school and getting taught.

Of course, the children in that union hall ought sooner or later to move into a regular classroom. But it is really the business of the Federal government to see that they do.

If the Federal government does

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Would your wife worry over who you were bringing home to dinner at one hundred dollars a plate?

She would probably wheel her supermarket wire basket into the fast lane. And whistle for the crossing like a freight fireman.

Reason I'm asking is both the Democrats and Republicans have sent me invitations to that priced billious bacchanale. The politicians have bear-trapped the smorgasbord.

That's too many shells for an indoor clam bake. In my precinct you can start a third party with a bacon-burger on a soda-cracker.

The victory snacks started in January with Truman speaking straight from the shoulder. When I speak at those Dutch treats it's on the cuff.

Reason for the burping barbeques is control of the two-fifty House and split-level Senate.

Proving the wisest thing the founding fathers did after writing the Constitution was to put that bend in Pennsylvania Avenue at Fifteenth Street.

I have eleven hundred dollars worth of invitations to 1957 victory dinners. And may have to start a splinter party to get a toothpick.

Berserk Mood Of Congress May Jeopardize America's Defenses

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Congress is now in a wild-free-wheeling mood such as hasn't been seen by Washington observers since the ebb-days of Herbert Hoover.

It's a mood in which every Congressman wants to get in his whack at the budget so he can wave the meat-ax from the soap-box back home. It's a mood in which the budget may be cut up, not intelligently, but piecemeal when it gets to the floor of the House of Representatives.

The mood is sweeping Congress like a tornado, and neither the President's TV appeal nor Congressional leaders have been able to stop it. Actually the leaders haven't tried. GOP leaders, all of them in the opposite wing from "modern Republicanism," are delighted at the way the budget worm has turned, and Ike's appeal brought as much critical mail as it did favorable. He was bitterly disappointed.

That is one reason he pulled his punches so markedly at his press conference the day after his TV address, announced to Congress that he would not retaliate against Republicans who opposed him, said he would not even work directly with the modern Republicans who are fighting for him.

This was like pinning a "kick me" sign on his own back. It was also equivalent to telling such courageous GOP friends as Sens. Clifford Case of New Jersey and Jack Javits of New York that their battles for him would be unrewarded.

No President since the days of Herbert Hoover, who never understood politics, has used these tactics with Congress. It means the abdication of power. In this case it may mean Congress, not the White House, will be running the country for the next three and a half years.

Note—Responsible Congressional leaders such as George Mahon of Texas, head of the Military Appropriations subcommittee, are worried over what the hell-bent-for-economy rush will do to the armed services. Mahon has warned House leaders they must stop the carnage when the defense budget comes up for a vote.

Two Old Soldiers

When those two old soldiers, Field Marshal Montgomery and General Eisenhower, decided they would have fired Generals Lee and Meade for their errors in the heat of Gettysburg, they forgot some errors they themselves made, not in the heat of battle, in World War II.

Their greatest error was to cut off the gasoline of Gens. Omar Bradley and George S. Patton when they were racing for the German border, bringing their offensive to a dead stop in order to let Monty catch up. Most war strategists have pulled their punches in evaluating this error, but some believe it caused many thousands of American casualties and delayed winning the war for three months.

General Bradley, one of the gentler critics, put it this way: "Three months and many casualties later we were to be forcefully reminded that in war, opportunity once forsaken, is opportunity lost forever. Not until Dec. 2 did Third Army crack the Saar — and then only after a bitter winter offensive through a heavily fortified line."

Other critics said the war could have been won before Christmas. Instead it terminated May 6.

This column reported guardedly Oct. 22, 1944 because of wartime censorship: "Montgomery had been given Caen as his objective. But days passed and nothing happened. Eisenhower kept hammering at Montgomery, urging an advance. But nothing happened. Finally air intelligence showed that German resistance behind allied lines was a mere shell. So Eisenhower gave the order for Bradley to ignore Montgomery and break through Nazi lines to the south."

Monty Wanter U. S. Troops

The fact was that Montgomery demanded an entire U. S. army, the First Army, to command before he would advance. General Bradley describes this in detail in his book, "A Soldier's Story." He also tells how Montgomery was given his and Patton's gasoline. Bradley on the whole was kind toward his friend Eisenhower, but occasionally he chafed at the way Ike delayed the war and lost lives to appease Montgomery.

"Eisenhower was not yet ready to cut us free from Montgomery," wrote the man in command of Eisenhower's combat troops.

When Montgomery wanted to take over the entire U. S. First Army to bolster his own British forces, Bradley opposed.

"Why three additional corps?" he argued with Eisenhower, "that's two more than he will need. If Monty would only take a chance and attack without an overwhelming preponderance, we might use those two remaining corps to reinforce our lower thrust on the Rhine."

But Eisenhower sided with Montgomery, and General Patton, according to Bradley, "soon found his advance choked off by shortage of gasoline. I argued strenuously with Eisenhower over Monty's extravagance in tonnage but was unable to budge him."

"I pleaded with Ike to discard (Monty's) scheme for an air drop on Tournai. 'We'll be there before you can pull it,' I warned. But Eisenhower stuck by his guns."

Sure enough, Bradley got to ground troops before Monty got there by air.

"At 5:15 a. m. Sept. 3," wrote Bradley, "Hansen awakened me with a message from Monty who complained that U. S. troops in Tournai were blocking the British road."

Those were some of the errors the old soldiers forgot about when they said they would have fired Lee and Meade for errors at Gettysburg.

Speculative Trusts

By Roger Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass.—I believe in Trust Funds, for both children and grandchildren. The ideal method is to leave one half of your money in trust, and one half outright. In the case of children or grandchildren, you save an inheritance tax by leaving the money in trust for them and providing that your wife will have a life interest in the income. There are three reasons for forming such trusts: (1) For the protection of your estate; (2) for the saving of inheritance taxes; (3) to be sure your children and grandchildren get what you want them to have. All of this will be explained to you without charge by the trust officer of any bank.

A trust officer will properly diversify your holdings as to securities. This is also true of any money you put into Mutual Funds. Such Trust Funds, however, do not provide for diversification of management. My appeal this week is that you have several Trust Funds, each in a different bank so as to get diversification of management, as well as diversification of securities.

Trust officers are supposed to protect you against inflation. To do this they buy either convertible bonds or common stocks. Buying common stocks today, however, may be rather risky. This especially applies to the "Blue Chips," which trust officers like to buy in order to protect their own reputations. This also applies to bankers and committees who are investing Pension Funds for corporations. Few of these trustees invest with the idea of making a profit for you or your heirs, but rather with the sole purpose of providing safety and protection against possible inflation.

In previous weeks this column has shown how you can build $10,000 up to $1,000,000 in 25 years without borrowing any money or without buying anything on margin. This would be by investing in new industries before the brokers and the public woke up to their possibilities. To accomplish this I believe that the $10,000 should be divided into four Trust Funds of $2,500 each in order to get competition between the different Trustees. A bank does not wish to be bothered with such small Trust Funds. Hence, it will be practically impossible to get four banks to do this. This means that you must get four individuals to serve as Trustees.

These individuals should be young college instructors—one in physics, one in chemistry, one in biology, and one in business administration. If you have a son or daughter who is in college, have him or her pick out four bright, forward-looking instructors to serve as such trustees. Otherwise, write the United Information Service, 6 Maiden Lane, New York City, which will help you. These individuals should be paid a good commission for their services, based on the results which they secure for you. This will make them more interested in serving you. Having a number of trustees will also create competition and rivalry among these four college instructors.

I advise a selection of young college instructors, rather than older professors, because the older men are usually more interested in their own reputations and have more fear of making a mistake. The Trust Agreements will, however, provide that the Trustees will not be held responsible for any losses. It will be assumed that one or two of the four trustees will lose money; but your goal will be in the total result of the four. No one person can foresee in advance which of the four will "hit the jackpot." This is the principle upon which you must work if you expect to turn $10,000 into $1,000,000 in 25 years.

This is especially important for people in high income brackets who are compelled to pay a tax of 50 per cent or more on general income but would need to pay only 25 per cent on profits from securities. Furthermore, I am not advising that all your Trust Funds be of a speculative nature specializing in new industries. If, however, you plan to leave $50,000 to some grandchild in trust, I certainly advise that $10,000 of this be left with four forward-looking trustees, leaving the remaining $40,000 in a Trust Fund with a bank, to be operated in the usual orthodox manner.

Don't Ask Doctor For Curbstone Diagnosis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Physicians often are asked to make a curbstone diagnosis by friends or acquaintances whose chance to meet. This is done at bridge parties, after church, on the golf course, or when walking down the street. Such advice is free and usually is worth no more than its costs.

A highly trained medico prefers not to give an expert opinion without knowledge of all the facts. His reputation is at stake and why should he be asked to lose it? The more skilled the physician the more cautious he becomes in the circumstances.

I never will forget the long distance telephone call I received from a woman who had developed diarrhea while traveling in one of the Mediterranean countries. "Could it be the food I ate?" she asked. "After all, everyone who visits this country gets dysentery."

I agreed, but made it clear that in all fairness to her I could not come to this conclusion without an examination. She was an intelligent woman and agreed.

Three days later, X-ray disclosed a malignancy of the intestine. Her cancer was detected in time but suppose she had abided by a curbstone diagnosis?

A colleague of mine, sitting in the locker room of a country club, was talking to one of the better known and popular members. "I have had pain in my left hip for 10 days and it is beginning to interfere with my golf. Do you think it is arthritis?"

Everyone in the locker room suddenly became interested and you could hear a pin drop when the physician replied, "Of course. Arthritis is common at your age and the hip is a vulnerable spot." He continued to discuss the disease but failed to stress the need for examination or X-rays.

A week later club members were shocked to learn that Mr. Jones had cancer of the pancreas that had spread to his left hip. My colleague was known thereafter as the physician who did not know the difference between cancer and arthritis. His reputation suffered accordingly. He never will make a curbstone diagnosis again.

HEALTHFUL SEASON

F. T. writes: Is it true that cold weather is more healthful than summer because it eliminates germs and harmful insects?

REPLY

Extreme cold may kill bacteria but the incidence of infections is higher in cold weather because resistance is lower and we spend more time indoors. In addition, we subject the body to stress, forcing it to adjust to warmth one minute and cold the next. Insects transmit disease but, with modern sanitation, they are more of a nuisance than a hazard.

JUMPING HEART

Mrs. V. writes: My husband has a skipping beat. Is this dangerous?

REPLY

Not if it is the most common type of skip—the extrasystole. This irregularity usually goes unnoticed but now and then it produces a sensation as though the heart were turning over or jumping out of the chest. Extrasystoles tend to occur at rest when the pulse is slow. They disappear when the pace quickens, as a result of standing up or walking across the room. There are other types of irregularities, so why not ask your physician about it?

BLOOD TEST IN HEPATITIS

S. L. writes: What is found in the blood when the doctor makes a diagnosis of hepatitis after a blood test?

REPLY

Several laboratory tests are used to make this diagnosis, and when viral hepatitis is present, they indicate damage on the inside of the liver. Some of the tests show excess bile pigment in the blood; others, impaired function of the liver.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Action Needed On Air Safety

In a speech in the House of Representatives, Rep. Harry G. Haskell Jr. of Delaware said that in the field of air safety "outmoded and inadequate equipment and air safety techniques" must be superseded because they are not nearly good enough to meet the nation's visible future needs.

Studies have convinced him, Representative Haskell said, that the CAA, private and commercial air industry and the military are doing the best possible job with the facilities available. But, he is convinced, much more is required.

Representative Haskell has introduced legislation to establish an Airways Modernization Board to implement recommendations made in a survey for the administration.

This is a subject of great importance not only to those who travel by air but also to those who live along regular air line routes. Calamities such as the crash of two great air liners over the Grand Canyon last year are fortunately rare. But the number of near misses is frighteningly high.

Representative Haskell found that no less than 452 of near-collisions were reported to the Civil Aeronautics Administration in the last four months of 1956. And the hazard is rapidly increasing as the jet age develops with bigger planes and faster air speeds.

Both the aviation industry and the traveling public have a vital interest in seeing that a new air safety program is pushed with all possible speed. Congress should not long delay action.

These Days

Federal Security Program

The only justification for the President's $71,800,000 budget is that the security of the United States is in peril. Otherwise, there would seem to be no need to spend all that money. The President, in his speech to the citizens, calls direct attention to the dangers which face us.

Yet the American Jewish Congress has issued a statement to the Commission on Government Security which contains these sentences:

"The Federal Employee Security Program was initiated ten years ago under the stress of Communist expansion abroad and the threat of Communist subversion at home. At the time, the program was viewed as an emergency measure that would be subject to constant reconsideration and revision in the light of experience and continuing developments . . ."

Then the American Jewish Congress says:

"After a decade of experience with the program, with our government strong and our people united, the time for a complete re-evaluation of the program is long overdue. The hasty assumptions on which it was originally established and which have guided it, despite some changes, ever since, must be replaced by more maturely considered conclusions, thoroughly grounded in our democratic traditions . . ."

The assumption here is that the Communists have become inactive and that they are no longer seeking to overthrow the government of the United States whether by force and violence or by infiltration, penetration and corruption. The facts are otherwise. The American Communist Party has again become active; the Stalinists are again in control; American citizens continue to be involved in espionage activities and are being caught at it. Therefore, it would be foolhardy to relax anti-Communist activities within the United States for a day.

An inevitable social phenomenon has occurred, namely, that boys and girls, who in the 1930s found it amusing to be Communists or to play along with them, are in 1957 embarrassed by the record. The principal difficulty they encounter is that many Americans decline to believe that their conduct ever was as innocent as they now contend, particularly if they ever engaged in espionage activities.

Those who seek employment in the government are usually the most aggrieved. They are bothered by early affiliations, by membership in front organizations, by marriage to a wife who is a party member and similar misfortunes. But for them it ought to be made clear that the government payroll is too big and too costly and that nobody has to work for the government and that the government ought to resolve all doubts in its own favor, assuming that if a man cannot get a job with the government, he might try a dime store.

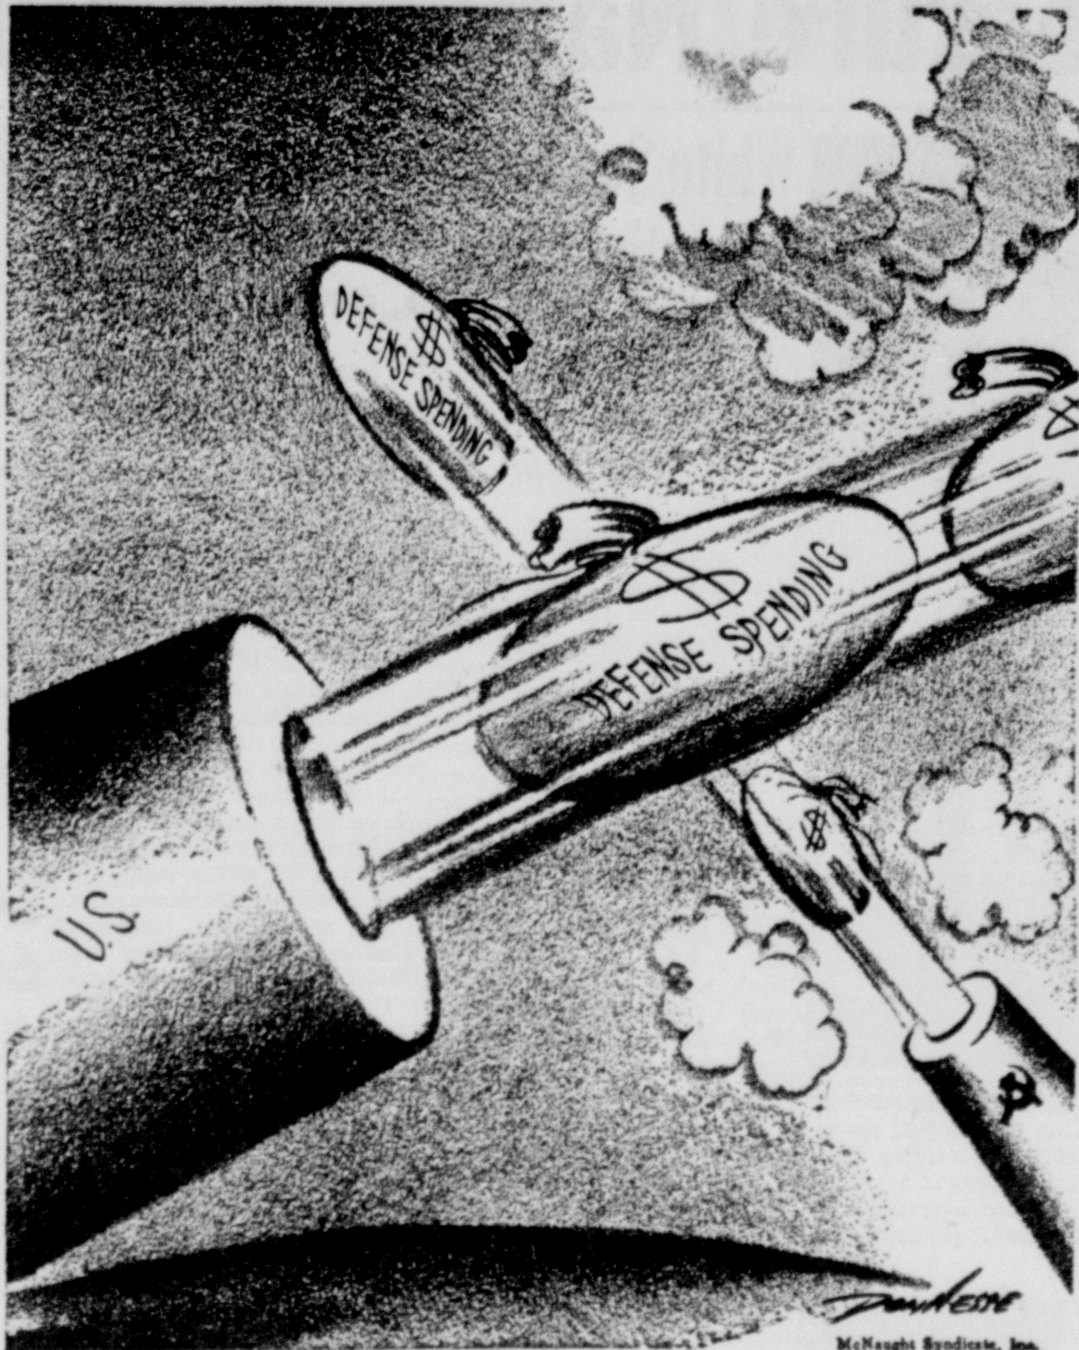

The assumption that the government owes a citizen employment, even if he is a Communist, has no basis in American political theory or history. Most Americans prefer to make their own way without government aid. During the days of the WPA, jobs were made to keep men from starving but today there can be no excuse for the government to hire three to do the job of one, or to keep those in office whose loyalty is questionable. All doubts of loyalty should be resolved in favor of the United States.

A to-do is made over the meaning of the word, sensitive. This is to delicate an approach to the problem. Who is to determine what position is sensitive against an enemy such as Soviet Russia? Are we to say that a janitor in the Pentagon or in the State Department is not in a sensitive position? The American Jewish Congress memorandum says:

" . . . History has shown that the quest for a riskless security is futile and that democracy is more likely to survive and grow if it willingly accepts some risks in order to preserve unimpaired as far as possible the sole reason for its existence—the protection of the people's liberties."

That is a very broad statement and could, of course, not be upheld by historical citations, as there are none on the subject. There has never been an order of society called, "a democracy," until the current century when the term is bandied about loosely by all sorts of people, including many who do not believe in "the protection of the people's liberties." Also, regarding that there is too much loose talk because how can a country protect its people's liberties if it is conquered? We might ask that of the Hungarians.

The Cold (Cash) War

How Serious Is Maryland's School Problem?

By Stewart Alsop

BALTIMORE COUNTY, Md. The big meeting hall in the new, ugly CIO office building in Baltimore County is divided in two by a high beaverboard partition. On the beaverboard there are tacked, not union notices, but childish scrawls, colored pictures of Maryland's birds and beasts, patriotic mottoes, and the like. And on either side of the partition you will find, not embattled workers, but thirty odd healthy-looking, surprisingly well-behaved children.

These children in the union hall are what the President's school aid plan, the most important and most disputed item in his domestic program, is all about. In an attempt to get a first hand look at the much advertised school crisis, this reporter has just toured this county and neighboring Ann Arundel County, talking to teachers and school officials and peering into classrooms.

In a suburban area like this one, the reasons for the school crisis are easily visible to the naked eye, in the rows of small new houses stretching out like a vast tent city. We Americans have reproduced like rabbits since the war, and at the same time we have been moving out of the big cities into the suburbs as though we were fleeing a plague. As a result, the two counties I visited, like similar suburban areas all over the United States, have tripled their school population in one decade. Despite a lot of new school building, there just are not enough classrooms to go round, and classes have had to be held in churches, or union halls, or any available space at all.

The question posed by the President's plan is this: Should the government provide funds to build schools, so that the children in the CIO building can move into a regular classroom? The National Education Association, which designated the two Maryland counties I visited as typical of the problem, believes that it should. I left on my expedition inclined to agree. But now I wonder.

I asked the bright, middle-aged lady teacher in the union hall how she was getting on here. "Why, it's just fine," she said, "it's nice and quiet away from the main school, and there's plenty of room for the children." Another teacher who might have been her twin, who was holding classes in a neighboring Baptist church, gave the same reply, word for word.

And this suggests one impression I brought back from my brief expedition. The school crisis is serious, and it could become a lot more so. It causes a lot of inconvenience and sometimes bad trouble. But it is not quite as desperate a crisis as it has sometimes been painted.

In some classrooms, the children are pretty crowded, but the classrooms do not resemble the black hole of Calcutta. In a few schools, a two-shift system has had to be adopted. This system is obviously unsatisfactory, and it has made it necessary to cut such extras as music, art, and sometimes remedial reading. But the children are still going to school and getting taught.

Of course, the children in that union hall ought sooner or later to move into a regular classroom. But it is really the business of the Federal government to see that they do?

Baering Down On The News

Would your wife worry over who you were bringing home to dinner at one hundred dollars a plate?

She would probably wheel her supermarket wire basket into the fast lane. And whistle for the crossing like a freight fireman.

Reason I'm asking is both the Democrats and Republicans have sent me invitations to that priced billious bacchanale. The politicians have bear-trapped the smorgasbord.

That's too many shells for an indoor clam bake. In my precinct you can start a third party with a bacon-burger on a soda-cracker.

The victory snacks started in January with Truman speaking straight from the shoulder. When I speak at those Dutch treats it's on the cuff.

Reason for the burping barbeques is control of the two-family House and split-level Senate.

Proving the wisest thing the founding fathers did after writing the Constitution was to put that bend in Pennsylvania Avenue at Fifteenth Street.

I have eleven hundred dollars worth of invitations to 1957 victory dinners. And may have to start a splinter party to get a toothpick.

Berserk Mood Of Congress May Jeopardize America's Defenses

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Congress is now in a wild-free-wheeling mood such as hasn't been seen by Washington observers since the ebb-days of Herbert Hoover.

It's a mood in which every Congressman wants to get in his whack at the budget so he can wave the meat-ax from the soap-box back home. It's a mood in which the budget may be cut up, not intelligently, but piecemeal when it gets to the floor of the House of Representatives.

The mood is sweeping Congress like a tornado, and neither the President's TV appeal nor Congressional leaders have been able to stop it. Actually the leaders haven't tried. GOP leaders, all of them in the opposite wing from "modern Republicanism," are delighted at the way the budget worm has turned, and Ike's appeal brought as much critical mail as it did favorable. He was bitterly disappointed.

That is one reason he pulled his punches so markedly at his press conference the day after his TV address, announced to Congress that he would not retaliate against Republicans who opposed him, said he would not even work directly with the modern Republicans who are fighting for him.

This was like pinning a "kick me" sign on his own back. It was also equivalent to telling such courageous GOP friends as Sens. Clifford Case of New Jersey and Jack Javits of New York that their battles for him would be unrewarded.

No President since the days of Herbert Hoover, who never understood politics, has used these tactics with Congress. It means the abdication of power. In this case it may mean Congress, not the White House, will be running the country for the next three and a half years.

Note—Responsible Congressional leaders such as George Mahon of Texas, head of the Military Appropriations subcommittee, are worried over what the hell-bent-for-economy rush will do to the armed services. Mahon has warned House leaders they must stop the carnage when the defense budget comes up for a vote.

Two Old Soldiers

When those two old soldiers, Field Marshal Montgomery and General Eisenhower, decided they would have fired Generals Lee and Meade for their errors in the heat of Gettysburg, they forgot some errors they themselves made, not in the heat of battle, in World War II.

Their greatest error was to cut off the gasoline of Gens. Omar Bradley and George S. Patton when they were racing for the German border, bringing their offensive to a dead stop in order to let Montgomery catch up. Most war strategists have pulled their punches in evaluating this error, but some believe it caused many thousands of American casualties and delayed winning the war for three months.

General Bradley, one of the gentler critics, put it this way: "Three months and many casualties later we were to be forcefully reminded that in war, opportunity once forsaken, is opportunity lost forever. Not until Dec. 2 did Third Army crack the Saar — and then only after a bitter winter offensive through a heavily fortified line."

Other critics said the war could have been won before Christmas. Instead it terminated May 6.

This column reported guardedly Oct. 22, 1944 because of wartime censorship: "Montgomery had been given Caen as his objective. But days passed and nothing happened. Eisenhower kept hammering at Montgomery, urging an advance. But nothing happened. Finally air intelligence showed that German resistance behind allied lines was a mere shell. So Eisenhower gave the order for Bradley to ignore Montgomery and break through Nazi lines to the south."

Monty Wanter U. S. Troops

The fact was that Montgomery demanded an entire U. S. army, the First Army, to command before he would advance. General Bradley describes this in detail in his book, "A Soldier's Story." He also tells how Montgomery was given his and Patton's gasoline. Bradley on the whole was kind toward his friend Eisenhower, but occasionally he chafed at the way Ike delayed the war and lost lives to appease Montgomery.

"Eisenhower was not yet ready to cut us free from Montgomery," wrote the man in command of Eisenhower's combat troops.

When Montgomery wanted to take over the entire U. S. First Army to bolster his own British forces, Bradley opposed.

"Why three additional corps?" he argued with Eisenhower, "that's two more than he will need. If Monty would only take a chance and attack without an overwhelming preponderance, we might use those two remaining corps to reinforce our lower thrust on the Rhine."

But Eisenhower sided with Montgomery, and General Patton, according to Bradley, "soon found his advance choked off by shortage of gasoline. I argued strenuously with Eisenhower over Monty's extravagance in tonnage but was unable to budge him."

"I pleaded with Ike to discard (Monty's) scheme for an air drop on Tournai. 'We'll be there before you can pull it,' I warned. But Eisenhower stuck by his guns."

Sure enough, Bradley got to ground troops before Monty got there by air.

"At 5:15 a. m. Sept. 3," wrote Bradley, "Hansen awakened me with a message from Monty who complained that U. S. troops in Tournai were blocking the British road."

Those were some of the errors the old soldiers forgot about when they said they would have fired Lee and Meade for errors at Gettysburg.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Life isn't all beer and skittles at Columbia University for Instructor Charles Van Doren since he picked up all that loose change on a TV quiz show.

Quite recently, reports Jester, Columbia's humor magazine, he told an English literature class, "Joseph Addison was born in, let's see . . ." Then, thumbing through a desk encyclopedia, he added, "Ah, yes: 1672."

"You're absolutely RIGHT!" shouted a voice from the back of the room. The class applauded thunderously.

A couple from the flourishing hamlet of Percival, Ia., paid their first visit to Los Angeles, where the smog bothered them no end. A native enthusiast whipped them around town in his car and stopped suddenly to boast, "From here, on a really clear day, you can see snow-capped mountains on one side and Catalina island on the other."

The Iowan rubbed his smarting eyes and allowed, "It's true we've got nothing like that in Iowa, but by golly, what we have got, we can see."

Carroll Shelby Wins Feature National Sports Car Race

Texan Sets New Record At Airport

Averages 70.4 MPH;
14 Of 21 Finish;
Crowd Tops 1956

By ALBERT D. DARBY JR.

Carroll H. Shelby of Dallas, Tex., America's sports car "driver of the year" in 1956, won the feature Edgar D. Vandegrift Memorial race at yesterday's annual Cumberland National Sports Car races before a huge crowd which braved some rain and the threat of more rain at the Cumberland Municipal Airport.

William R. Carscaden, general chairman of the Cumberland Lions Club committee, which has sponsored these sports car races each May for six years, estimated that crowd at slightly over 61,000. More conservative estimates were in the neighborhood of 45,000 and more than last year despite the battle from the weather.

In winning the feature race, Shelby drove a Maserati 300S belonging to John Edgar of California to a new track record of 70.4 miles per hour. He negotiated 44 laps around the 1.6 mile course in 60 minutes and six-tenths of a second.

1956 Winner Is Second

Second in the big race was last year's winner, Walter Hanagan of Westfield, N. J., driving one of Briggs Cunningham's Jaguar D's. Although he was the only other finisher among the 13 who competed against Shelby whose car was not lapped by Shelby but he trailed by between one-fourth and one-half of a lap.

Actually this race was primarily between Shelby and John Fitch of Stamford, Conn., driving another of Cunningham's Jaguar D cars, for 32 laps until Fitch's brakes failed on him after he had taken the lead from Shelby for the last two laps he was in the race. In third place in the feature race was Charles Wallace of Chevy Chase, driving the Porsche R. S. in which he earlier had won the fifth race.

Underwood Repeats

The only repeater among the six 1956 winners who were racing again yesterday was Lake C. Underwood of South Orange, N. J., whose Porsche Spyder won the third race in an average speed of 62.7 miles per hour. It was the third race Underwood also won a year ago.

Underwood also was second to Wallace in the fifth race driving a Porsche 550. It was this same car which Miss Denise McCluggage, sports car reporter for the New York Herald-Tribune, drove to victory in the 20-minute ladies race, the fourth event on the eight race program.

Probably the keenest dual in the entire program yesterday at the airport in nearby West Virginia was for the Cumberland Cup, the sixth race on the program.

Lt. Col. Robert B. Kuhn of Fairborn, Ohio, driving an A. C. Bristol Roadster, won the sixth race on a wet track when he overtook M. G. A. Cappiello of Washington, D. C., another A. C. Bristol driver, on the hair-pin turn of the final lap after Cappiello had led from the 13th through the 27th lap. Col. Kuhn had led from the sixth through the 12th lap.

Thompson Easy Victor

One of the most convincing victories was scored by Richard Thompson, Washington, D. C., who led from the first through the 30th and final lap as he averaged 62.4 miles per hour in a Corvette, the only American car to finish on top.

Winners in the first two races were J. E. Huges, Pittsburgh, Pa., driving an Alfa Romeo in the first race at 60.5 miles per hour, and Frank W. Baptista of Hyattsville, driving a Lotus-Monza at 66.8 miles per hour in the second race. Dr. M. R. J. Wyllie of Allison Park, Pa., long a favorite with the local crowd, finished second in a close contest, Rain Falls In Fifth

The rain, which had threatened to fall all morning, finally arrived just before the fifth race started. The rain impeded progress in this race and caused Wallace, the ultimate winner, to spin out after the first lap. Consigned to second place for five laps, he regained the lead in the sixth lap and held it the rest of the day. His average speed of 61.1 was held down appreciably by the wet going over the airport runways.

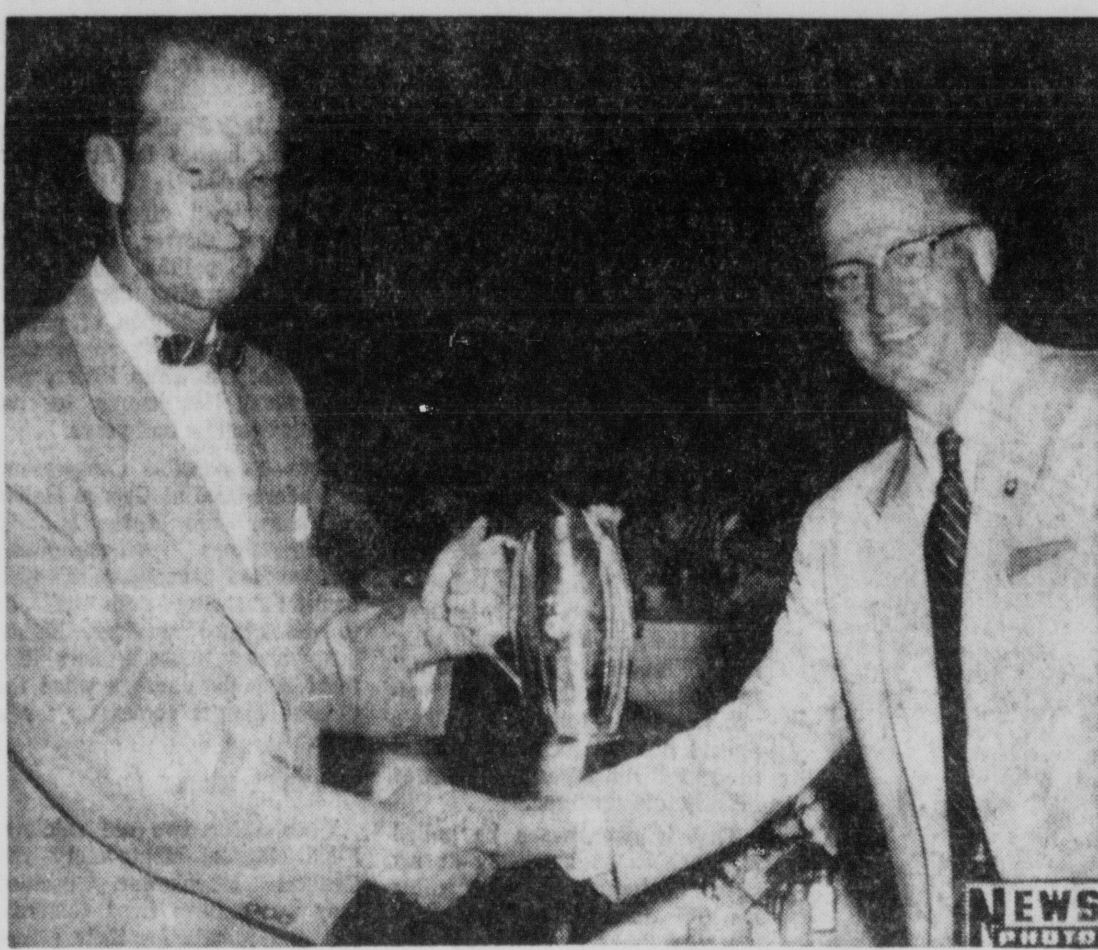

The rain stopped after the fifth race and by the final event the track was almost dry.

14 Of 21 Finish

In the feature race, 14 of the 21 starters finished. After the 21st place Wallace was Paul O'Shea, Rye, N. Y., driving a Mercedes-Benz; J. M. R. Lyeth Jr., Grosse Point, Mich., driving a Ferrari; Wes Boss, driving another Cunningham Jaguar D; Loyal Katskie, Omaha, Neb., driving a Ferrari.

Cops Net Title

PHILADELPHIA, May 19 (AP)—Joan Robinson of Pikesville, Md., and Baltimore's Forest Park High School won the Middle State Interscholastic Girls Tennis Championship today, defeating second seeded Sally Lied of Ephrata, Pa. 6-3, 6-2.

WALLACE ACCEPTS TROPHY—Charles Wallace, left, of Chevy Chase, Md., who won the fifth race (Tri-State Trophy) and finished third in the featured eighth event on the national sports car program yesterday at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, is shown accepting a trophy from Stanley R. March, Pittsburgh, executive officer, Steel Cities Region, Sports Car Club of America, last night at the Victory Dinner at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Wallace averaged 61.1 miles per hour in winning the fifth race. He copped three trophies for his stellar performances at the wheel of a Porsche Spyder RS.

Kucks Helps Bob Shantz Stop Indians

Mantle Hits No. 7 In 6-3 Triumph

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—Little Bobby Shantz won his third game with ninth inning relief help from Johnny Kucks today and Mickey Mantle hit his seventh home run as the New York Yankees downed Cleveland 6-3 before 28,103 chilled fans.

The 31-year-old lefthander, who won only two games for Kansas City last season, weakened in the ninth after pitching a steady game. Kucks came in with one run in, two on base and nobody out and escaped without further scoring.

Rocky Colavito was the most consistent Cleveland batter with four straight hits, including his fourth homer of the season leading off the ninth.

After Colavito's homer, Chico Carrasquel walked and George Strickland singled to finish Shantz day. Manager Casey Stengel brought in Kucks for his first relief job of the year. Kucks got pinch hitter Hal Naragon on an infield out, made pinch hitter Joe Antobelli fly out and struck out Jim Busby to end the game.

Bob Lemon, who had quieted the Yankees in Cleveland after relieving the injured Herb Score, May 7, was knocked out in the sixth inning with his fourth defeat. It was the eighth straight time he had failed to go the route.

White Sox Cop Seventh In Row At Boston, 6-2

Bill Fischer Wins First Major Start

BOSTON, May 19 (AP)—Rookie Bill Fischer assured Chicago's American League lead by pitching the White Sox to a 6-2 victory over Boston today with relief from Paul LaPalme. Fischer contributed a two run single to his first start in the majors.

Larry Doby drove in another pair of runs on a double and a 415-foot homer as the White Sox ran their unbeaten string to eight games. The blows ran his hitting streak to 10 games.

LaPalme, victim of Dick Williams' ninth inning homer in last night's 4-4 standoff with Baltimore, was not hitless for the final 2-3 innings after the Red Sox made menacing gestures in the seventh.

Fischer, 26, who has been in the Chisox farm chain since 1948, posted his second triumph following a recent 7-23 inning relief job against Detroit. He weakened in the sixth when Boston, holding a meagre 3-6 home record, got its two runs.

Title Up In Air After Bold Ruler's Win In Preakness

By JOHN CHANDLER

BALTIMORE, May 19 (AP)—Bold Ruler's sensational Preakness victory over Iron Liege, the Kentucky Derby hero, blew the 3-year-old title fracas into the stratosphere today and again left it up to the Belmont Stakes June 15 to determine a probable champion in this division.

This is the ninth straight year that the Derby and Preakness winners have failed to solve the triple crown, and Belmont Park is happy to have it that way. The $100,000-added Belmont Stakes, over the rugged mile and one half distance, always has been tabbed by New Yorkers as the true "test of the champion."

No Slams Since 1948

Not since Calumet Farm's Citation, in 1948, has a horse made a triple crown grand slam, and no Derby winner has taken the Preakness since then.

Iron Liege had been somewhat neglected by Calumet when Gen. Duke was battling Bold Ruler during the Florida winter season. But Gen. Duke came up with a foot injury, missed both the Derby and the Preakness, and may not make it for the Belmont. Then Iron Liege was moved up to the varsity and upset the Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler, the favorite, in the Derby May 4.

There are two, and perhaps three other colts who could figure strongly in the Belmont. One is Ralph Lowe's Gallant Man, who was nosed out by Iron Liege in the Derby when Jockey Willie Shoemaker made his now famous finish line misjudgment. Another is Calumet's Barbizon, the 2-year-old champion of 1956 who has been hampered this season by a coughing attack.

Third Horse Surprise

A third is the surprise colt of the Preakness, the D. & M. Stable's Inside Tract, who was closing rapidly yesterday in the mile and three-sixteenths classic and surely would have taken second place in a few more strides. The Derby was a mile and a quarter, a sixteenth longer than the Preakness, and although Inside Tract didn't start in the Kentucky race, he might find the extra quarter of the Belmont right up his alley.

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, Eddie Arcaro and Bold Ruler were back in New York today, where the colt owned by Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps will rest up until the Belmont.

Iron Liege headed for Garden State Park where trainer Jimmy Jones has the other Calumet horses, and Barbizon might start in next Saturday's $50,000 Jersey stakes. Gallant Man is in New York, and Inside Tract is on the way.

Score Seven Runs, Newcombe Winner

ST. LOUIS, May 19 (AP)—Brooklyn's Don Newcombe beat the St. Louis Cardinals for the 10th straight time today in a six-year hoodoo, 10-3, as veteran Carl Furillo drove in four runs, including the tie-breaking pair in a seven-run Dodger ninth inning.

Newcombe's triumph evened his season record at 3-3, two of them over the Redbirds, who have not beaten him since Aug. 23, 1951. Junior Gilliam opened the big inning with a double off Jim Davis, who had removed Lloyd Merritt from an eighth inning jam with a one-pitch double play. Soon Davis needed help himself as PeeWee Reese singled and Duke Snider walked to load the bases. Furillo then broke the 3-3 tie with a two-run single off Hoyt Wilhelm, and the parade was on.

Gil Hodges beat out a bunt. Sandy Amoros singled in two runs Al Walker singled home another and Willard Schmidt relieved. He got Don Zimmer to pop into a double play but Walker scored on a wild pitch. Newcombe singled and Gilliam doubled home the final run.

Francona Hits Two Home Runs

Baltimore Defeats Kansas City, 10-2

BALTIMORE, May 19 (AP)—Tito Francona's two home runs and five batted in paced the Baltimore Orioles to a 10-2 victory over Kansas City today in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader, and rain halted the second game after 5½ scoreless innings.

The Orioles won with a 6-run rally in the sixth inning of the opener. The spurge broke a 2-2 pitching duel between winner Billy Loes and loser Tom Morgan. Billy Gardner hit a 3-run double during the rally and Francona a 3-run homer before 7,674.

Francona, the 1956 rookie sensation who was optioned to Vancouver briefly at the start of this season, also homered in the third and hit a run-scoring single in the fifth. He has hit four homers in four days.

The veteran Kell, recently returned to action after being beamed, hit his home run in the seventh following Al Pilarcik's triple. Those two runs came off relief pitcher Hal Raether.

Maas Posts 6th Triumph At Capital

Detroit Wins, 6-1, Takes 4th Place

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—Duke Maas, winning his sixth straight decision, limited Washington to five hits today as the Detroit Tigers dealt winless Chuck Stobbs an eighth successive defeat, 6-1. It was the Senators' fifth loss in a row.

The victory moved Detroit into fourth place ahead of Boston.

Stobbs, who lost his 13th straight decision over a two-year period, lasted only two innings. With two out in the first inning Ray Boone singled and Charley Maxwell crashed his fourth homer over the rightfield fence. Maxwell later added two singles to pace the Tigers' 9-hit attack.

Stobbs yielded another run in the second inning when Frank House walked and Maas doubled to left.

The Tigers' lead mounted to 6-0 with a three-run outburst against Russ Kemmerer in the fifth. Frank Bolling walked, Harvey Kuenn and Boone singled to score Bolling and Maxwell singled to score Kuenn. Boone came across when Reno Bertoia hit into a double play.

Maas' string of 15 scoreless innings ended in the seventh when Herb Plews and Jim Lemon doubled for the Senators' run.

Cincinnati Boosts Lead To Two Games Over Milwaukee

Redlegs Take Double Bill From Pirates

Buccos Drop Close Ones, 8-7, 5-4; Post Homer Wins Second

CINCINNATI, May 19.—Home runs by Smoky Burgess, Bob Thurman and Wally Post powered Cincinnati's Redlegs to a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh's Pirates to-day, helping the National League-leading Reds sweep both ends of a doubleheader. Cincinnati eked out an 8-7 first game win. The Reds moved two full games ahead of the second place Milwaukee Braves.

Post led off the eighth inning with what proved the winning marker on a homer over the left-field wall—his fourth this year.

There were two errors on each side, including a bad relay to first base by Redleg Roy McMillan that helped the Pirates plot even, 4-4, in the eighth. That allowed Bill Virdon to dart home from second.

But an error by Pirate first baseman Dee Fondy in the seventh enabled George Crowe to reach first base safely. And Burgess followed with his home run, tying the game, 3-3. Bob Thurman followed with his pinch-hit homer.

Pittsburgh jumped to a two-run lead in the first inning on three singles and made it 3-0 in the third on a pair of hits.

The Redlegs finally punched out a score in the fifth inning, aided by a Pittsburgh error. Dick Groat threw wildly to first, allowing Frank Robinson to reach second base. And George Crowe doubled Robinson home.

Tom Acker, 27-year-old right-hander from Paterson, N. J., won both games in relief.

Shepherd Seeking Four-Game Sweep, To Battle Bobcats

Shepherd College's baseball team will be seeking a sweep of its series with its two rivals in the tri-state area when it plays Frostburg State Teachers College today at 2:30 p. m., at Midland.

Coach Cletus Lowe's Rams hold 14-10 and 7-2 decisions over Potomac State and won the first game of their series from Frostburg by the score of 17-5.

Shepherd's record is 7-6. The Bobcats have won two and lost six.

Frostburg concludes its season Tuesday, meeting Potomac State at Keyser at 2 p. m.

The Frostburg State-Penn State Freshmen game, set last Saturday at State College, Pa., was cancelled by mutual agreement.

Southern High School of Oakland made its record 7-5 for the season by trimming Berkeley Springs by the score of 11-6 in a P.V.C. game Saturday. The Indians finished the season with nine wins and four losses.

Camper Club Dinner Set For Thursday

The Camper Club will honor coaches, managers and members of the football, basketball, baseball and track teams and cheerleaders of Allegany High School at a dinner Thursday, May 23 at 6:30 p. m., in the recreation hall of Centre Street Methodist Church.

Fred Anderson, Allegany High School graduate of 1937 and present juvenile court judge, will be the toastmaster.

The guest speaker will be Jack Hennemer, assistant football coach at the University of Maryland.

One hundred and twenty-five persons are expected to attend the annual affair.

Ellenson Wins CCC Tournament

A net 30 by Jerome Ellenson won the even hole tournament held over the weekend at the Cumberland Country Club by the Men's Golf Association.

Players winning special prizes on par three holes were:

No. 1—John Cregan, No. 6—Charles S. Catherman Jr. No. 10—J. T. Mason, No. 12—Dr. William Ryan, No. 15—John Baggett.

Twenty-five CCC players have signed up for the first team match of the season with the Fountain Head Country Club at Hagerstown, Sunday, May 26, Dick Buskey, assistant pro, announced yesterday. A team of 30 players is wanted for this match and others interested are advised to contact Buskey at the golf shop.

Those already signed to play are C. S. Catherman Jr., John Wilson, William Claus, Robert Davis, George Petras, James W. Beacham, L. E. Eisenberg, Earl Gaud, Charles Zembower, J. T. Mason, Hal Sebra.

Coaches Praise Cornell's Crew

PRINCETON, N.J., May 19.—Cornell's poised, powerful seniors were being hailed today as one of the great crews of modern times following their stirring one-foot victory over Yale in the Eastern Spring Rowing Championships at Carnegie Lake Saturday.

"An outstanding crew," said Pennsylvania's Joe Burk whose Quakers meet Cornell at Ithaca, N.Y., next Saturday.

Even Coach Stork Sanford of Cornell, who rarely makes opti-mistic statements, went on the limb for his superb boatload.

Asked how his eight would fare at the Intercollegiate Rowing Assn. Championships at Syracuse, June 22, Sanford said "we expect to win."

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 19 (INS)—Smile! all tied up with a pretty bow. She arrives here Friday to report to Director Jean Negulesco and Producer Henry Ephron. She was tested first in Paris, and Buddy Adler, who is plenty keen in picking out new talent, sent for her to make another test in America. But you and I know that he would not bring her all the way from Paris after her first test there if it weren't definite that she is set for the role. She is no amateur, having made a picture in France.

In a call to New York, I find that Marilyn Monroe is declining to make any picture commitments or talk any business until the case of her husband, Arthur Miller, is settled in Washington. This had been a real heartache to Marilyn, who seems to have had nothing but heartache all her life, despite all the fame that has come to her.

20th had been hopeful of getting Marilyn to play Jean Harlow in Adela Rogers St. John's story, and Marilyn is definitely interested. Adela has already written a book on Jean's life and has had offers from many publishers.

Certainly no surprise that Irving Rapper's going to direct Natalie Wood in "Marjorie Morningstar." Didn't I tell you that Milton Sperling was moving heaven and earth to get him? This goes the first of July, and "Too Much Too Soon," which Irving was to have directed until later.

Ed Wynn will play the uncle and that is what I call great casting. He's so perfect for the part I would have chosen him myself.

Now we know what girl is on Elvis Presley's mind, because while he was under pentothal (a truth serum) having the cap from his tooth removed from his lung at Cedars of Lebanon, he kept calling for Anne. Who is Anne? Well, it just happens the Anne he was referring to is Anne Neyland, the pretty blonde recently signed at MGM.

It didn't take Anne long to get to the hospital and hold Elvis' hand for a couple of hours after she was told he had called for her. Now where does this put Yvonne Lime? I guess Colonel "Hadalcol" Parker fixed that one.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Popular and well-loved Art Baker, of the "You Asked for It" TV show, has that marriage gleam in his eye and rumor says his secretary, Gerrie Larsen, will be the next Mrs. Baker.

Dear Joe Santley, former great stage star and now a well known TV producer, is seriously ailing at Hoag Memorial Hospital in Newport Beach.

A Hollywood twosome that is different was Tab Hunter and Venetia Stevenson. They were chaperoned by their mothers when they had dinner at the Captain's Table.

June Allyson's secretary-companion and closest pal, Barbara Salisbury, is marrying writer Peter Cook. No date set yet.

The happiest person at the Tropicana ringsiding tomorrow night when Rhonda Fleming opens will be her mother, who was a musical comedy star with Al Jolson and always wanted Rhonda to follow in her footsteps.

The love and sympathy of the whole town goes to Maureen O'Hara, who underwent surgery at St. John's Hospital for a slipped disc, which is so painful. But she's getting along beautifully.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It's Lovely To Be Young

A pretty girl's femininity is reflected in the way she tints her lips and powders her nose. Most of the young men, we've talked to, are as divided between their dislike for the "unhappy girl, who doesn't care how she looks" and the "one who's so made up and 'goody-goody' no one wants to get near her."

Even if a girl may have the brains of a genius and the talent of a movie star, poor grooming can soon spoil her dating career.

No Make-up Needed

Actually, a teen-ager needs very little make-up. Her beauty lies in her dewy freshness and complete naturalness. Of course, she has a perfect right to use a lipstick, but only light shades like pink and true reds — never garish dark tones.

During the day, no make-up lipstick is usually necessary (unless a girl has a skin problem). For special occasions, like a movie date and of course, the prom, a girl will want to carry a vanity to powder her nose (be sure to carry it and don't expect your date to be weighed down with your paraphernalia).

Remember, boys dislike seeing a girl constantly making repairs on her make-up. But, if you absolutely have to, take a fleeting, limited glance in your compact mirror without any fuss or face grimaces. And, whatever happens — never, never comb your hair in public (you can always retire to the powder room for this).

Tomorrow: Be Easy To Listen To.

Television And Radio by John Crosby

Commercials Can Be Fun

Humor is — or, more accurately, was — supposed to be death to a commercial. That was for many years, axiomatic, though I never understood why. The earliest commercials I remember were funny ones about Jello committed by Jack Benny. And Benny's Chevrolet commercials which, as I recall, were even earlier, stuck in the mind. Still, humor was supposed to be off on the product, soiling it irretrievably in the minds of the prospective customers. But, if you listen to the radio much, you must have noticed a great change in the mood of commercials — at least, of some commercials — in the last years.

For instance, there is the Beechnut Coffee parody on a soap opera in which Penelope, girl taxidermist, almost loses Stacey the world adventurer, because she is using the wrong coffee. This is pretty close to being a parody on all commercials and a few years ago it would have been considered a sacrilege. Today, there are a lot of them.

The Piel beer commercials which were conceived by Ed Graham and are voiced by Bob Elliott and Ray Goulding, are given most of the credit for popularizing funny commercials — but actually humorous commercials go clear back to the crystal set days. The Piel brothers, Harry and Bert, are both on radio and television but there is still more humor on radio than on television. One reason for this is that radio is becoming increasingly slanted to teenagers and the kids like humor.

"Sponsor" magazine points out that commercials, probably for the first time in history now get fan mail, get commented on in nationally syndicated columns, and are frequently discussed on the air on disk jockey shows. Naturally, clients like this free advertising and the likelihood is that more and more sponsors will be asking for humor in their commercials.

However, "Sponsor" warns that the light touch is not for just anybody. Humor works well between products like beer and cigarettes, when the product is inexpensive, and when it is largely designed for pleasure, again like beer and cigarettes. You ought not, "Sponsor" warns, to try and sell either insurance or cemetery lots with humor. It is considered risky to try and sell expensive things like cars with humor but actually humor has been creeping into auto commercials for the last couple of years.

One example is the Ford commercial in which Ed Gardner otherwise known as Archie of "Duffy's Tavern" tells Duffy all about his new Ford. This is a pretty good example of two other trends in radio commercials: (a) toward the dramatic monologue; (b) toward the use of established radio voices. A great many of the old character actors of radio such as Parker Fennelly, the old Titus Moody of Allen's Alley, are finding a whole new career in these dramatic commercial monologues. One of the best known is Fennelly's portrayal of Farmer Titus Patch which becomes a full blown commercial for Pepperidge Farm Bread.

Just as humor is gaining ground, you'll be happy to learn that the irritation or shock type of commercial is losing it. This is the sort of repetitive infuriate-the-listener type of commercial pioneered by the late George Washington Hill. Once considered one of the most effective ways to advertise, admen now think the listeners just turn their ears off when this sort of commercial comes on.

As well as discovering the New World, Christopher Columbus is credited with discovering the pineapple. He named it pine fruit because of its resemblance to a pine cone.

There were 25,000 watch towers built into the Great Wall of China. There were an additional 15,000 detached watch towers connected with the great structure.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
AKQJ 10 9 ♥AKQ 2 ♦ 9 6 4 ♠Q

The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass Pass 1 spade Pass
Pass Pass 2 hearts Pass
Pass Pass 3 clubs Pass
Pass Pass 4 clubs Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—There is no doubt that a game contract should be undertaken, but there is no need to commit this hand to no trump when it might better play at spades. If partner has a double club stopper, no trump may be superior. But he should be given the option by a bid of three spades. This is a strength showing call and offers partner the choice of four spades or three no trump.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
AK 7 4 ♥KJ 10 3 ♦ 6 8 5 2

The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
Pass 1 diamond double Pass 1 heart Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Inasmuch as partner has been forced to bid and may be completely lacking in values, a single raise is as much as you can do at the present. In support of hearts your hand is worth 17 points. If partner has as many as nine you will hear from him again if you give him a single raise.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
A 7 ♥KQ 10 8 2 ♦KJ 7 5 4 2 ♠J

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 diamond 1 spade 2 hearts 2 spades 3 clubs

What do you bid now?
A.—There may be a temptation to jump to game in diamonds, but such impulse should be resisted. You have already made a free bid at a high level, and another free bid will do justice to your holding. If you jump to five diamonds, partner may be induced to contract for slam in the expectation that you have the ace of hearts. The proper call is, therefore, four diamonds.

Q. 4—Partner opens with two spades and you hold:
A 8 4 2 ♥10 9 5 ♦KQ 6 ♠KJ 4 3

What is your response?
A.—This is a very strong holding opposite a two diamond bid and a jump to three no trump describes such a holding.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
AKKQ 10 7 6 4 ♥A 4 3 ♦A 6 2

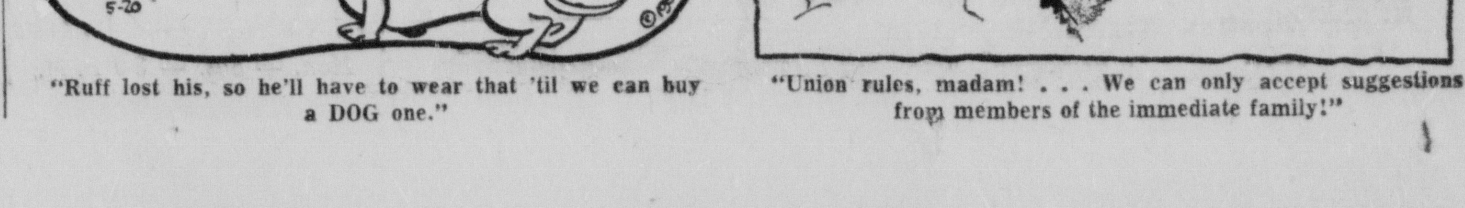

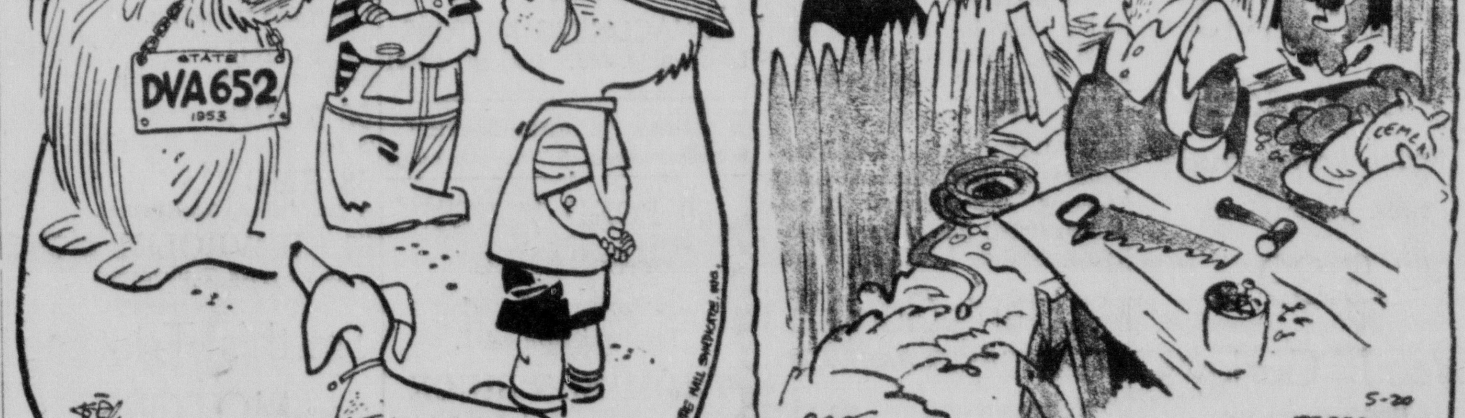

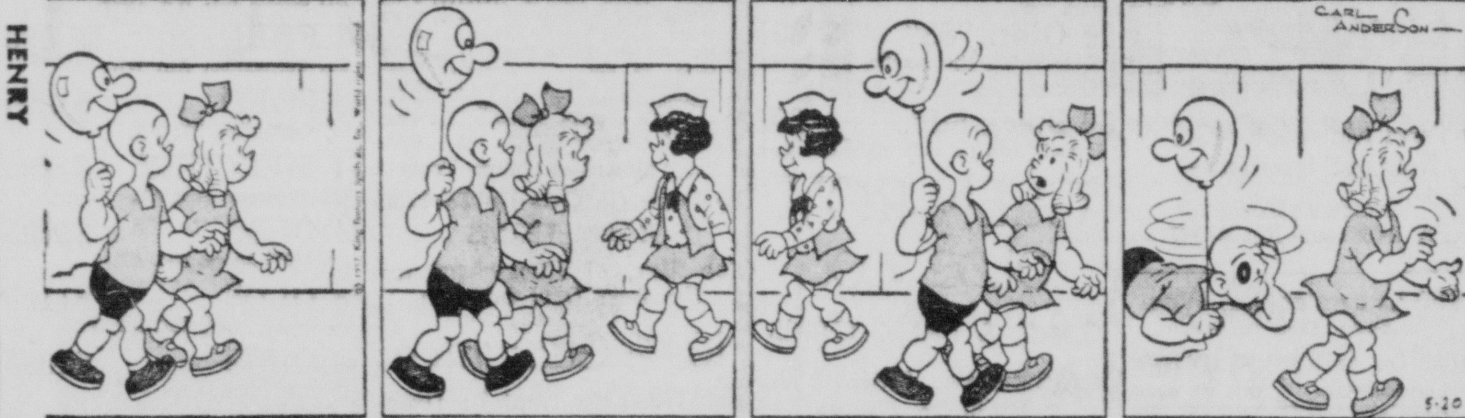

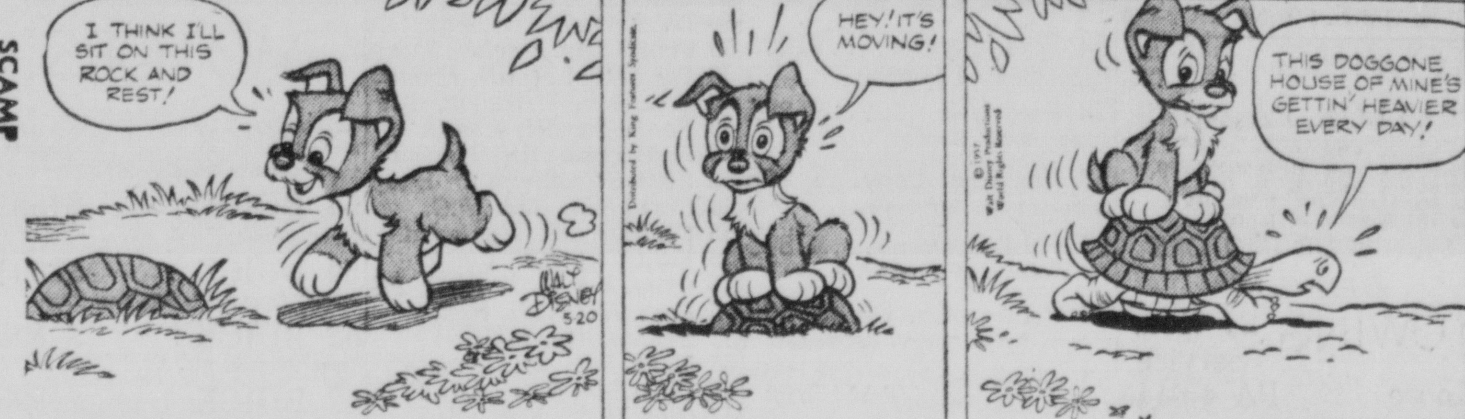

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
2 spades Pass 3 clubs Pass
3 spades Pass 6 clubs Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. Partner's bidding has described a hand containing a powerful self-sustaining club suit but probably no other values (else he would have taken time out to describe them.) If you insist upon spades, you may never reach his hand. Your hand will prove a useful dummy.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
AKJ 10 7 ♥10 5 3 ♦9 8 3 ♠QJ 8

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 no trump Pass Pass 3 hearts Pass

What do you bid now?
A.—Double. Yes, this is a penalty double. West isn't going to make it by at least a trick or two or perhaps more. You have seven points and partner has at least 16. That's 23 to 17 in your favor, and partner likely has three trumps. To try for a part score in spades cannot be very profitable.

Nine Injured In Series Of Road Crashes

Two Local Persons Reported Critical

Nine persons were injured in a series of highway accidents over the weekend.

The most serious accident occurred Saturday evening in Garrett County when three local persons were injured, two of them critically, in a one-car crash.

In the other accidents: a sports car driver was hospitalized Saturday afternoon when his Jaguar was hit broadside on Oldtown Road nine miles east of Cumberland; two children were hospitalized Saturday evening after an accident one mile east of Grantsville on U. S. Route 40; a local man was hospitalized Saturday night as a result of a crash on McMullen Highway at Bowling Green and two sailors were hurt when the car in which they were riding skidded off W. Va. Route 28 near Buffalo Hollow Road three miles north of Romney.

Two Are 'Critical'
Raymond Wempe, 28, of 126 Wempe Drive, and Mrs. Patricia (Christ) Trenton, 29, of 527 Greene Street, are in "critical" condition at Meyersdale Community Hospital. Her daughter, Cynthia Trenton, 10, is in "fair" condition.

Mr. Wempe, an employee of the National Shirt Shop here, who was the driver of the car, sustained chest injuries, according to a Meyersdale physician. Mrs. Trenton who is an employee of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company sustained chest injuries and internal injuries and is scheduled to undergo surgery today if her condition permits.

Her daughter sustained a fractured pelvis and head injuries.

Skids, Hits Trees

The crash occurred about 8 p. m. Saturday as Mr. Wempe was traveling along U. S. Route 219 about three miles south of Keyser's Ridge off U. S. Route 40.

Cpl. Samuel Conrad, who investigated with Trooper Joseph Slakem, said Mr. Wempe attempted to negotiate a left turn but the vehicle went out of control on the wet highway.

It careened across the road, traveled about 60 feet to the left of the road and struck two trees. The car struck the first tree and then swerved broadside into the second tree.

The victims were taken to the Meyersdale hospital in an ambulance from Grantsville.

The car is a total wreck. It was practically wrapped around the tree by the impact.

Sports Car In Crash

In the sports car accident, William Cato, 31, of 9 West Tabb Street, Petersburg, Va., was admitted to Memorial Hospital with a possible fractured skull, abrasions and lacerations of the face. His condition last night was reported "satisfactory."

He was taken to the hospital by James Monahan and Richard E. Turner, city, who were driving behind Cato in another car.

State Trooper J. H. Sweitzer said a 1957 car operated by James C. Twigg, 21, of near Oldtown, rounded a curve while heading south on Maryland Route 51.

Cato's machine was headed north toward Cumberland and was on the wrong side of the road, said the trooper. He said the sports car would not have been hit had Twigg not applied his brakes too hard. The Twigg car skidded across the center line and hit the left side of the sports car, which by that time was back in the proper lane.

Three-Car Collision

Trooper Stakem said Ronald E. Tressler, 11, and Cheryl Tressler, nine, of Grantsville, were admitted to the Meyersdale hospital with injuries sustained in a three-car crash near Grantsville.

The boy sustained lacerations of his face, and his sister suffered

FATHER SYLVAN

Father Sylvan To Celebrate Silver Jubilee

Rev. Sylvan B. Fondriest, O. F. M. Cap., assistant pastor of St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, will celebrate his silver jubilee as a priest at a Solemn High Mass here June 9 at 9:30 a. m.

The festive sermon during the Mass in St. Peter and Paul Church will be delivered by Very Rev. Boniface Weckman, O. F. M. Cap., Charleston, W. Va., who was pastor of the local church from 1932 to 1942.

A parish reception will be held in Father Sylvan's honor June 9 from 2 to 4 p. m. in the parish hall.

Father Sylvan will celebrate a similar Solemn Mass in his home parish, St. Joseph's Church, Dover, Ohio, on June 16 at 11 a. m. (EST). Father Boniface will also preach the festive sermon in Dover.

Father Sylvan was reared in Dover, a son of the late Jacob and Adelle Fondriest.

Entering the Capuchin novitiate in 1926, he completed his philosophy course at Victoria, Kan., and studied theology at St. Peter and Paul Monastery here in 1929 and 1930, completing his studies at Capuchin College, Washington, in 1932.

Father Sylvan was ordained to the priesthood June 14, 1932, and celebrated his first Solemn Mass in St. Joseph's Church at Dover on June 19, 1932.

He served 10 years in Rochester, Pa., six years in St. Louis, six years in Pittsburgh and a year as chaplain in St. Francis Hospital, Charleston, before coming here last August as assistant pastor.

Crossing Gates To Be Checked

The Mayor and Council will meet at the Valley Street crossing today at 11:30 a. m. to inspect new automatic gates and traffic signals at four grade crossings, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

Meeting with them will be representatives of the Signal Department of the B&O, which is completing the $118,500 installation.

The technical inspection is slated to be made this afternoon by C. R. Nuzum, city engineer.

Mayor Eves said a formal ceremony is planned when the system is placed into operation May 28.

Smorgasbord Tonight

McKinsley Chapter 12, Order of Eastern Star, will hold a smorgasbord this evening from 5 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. at the Masonic Temple on Greene Street.

Obeying The Command Of Christ

By Rev. WM. J. YINGLING

Christians in every age have taken their "marching orders" from this directive of Jesus Christ, spoken to his disciples shortly before he left them. It remains even to the present day our one clear and concise command to win the world for Him.

It should be easy to interpret such a simple directive as this, yet men in every generation have hesitated to be bold and forthright as ambassadors for Jesus Christ. Somewhere along the way we have lost some of our Master's zeal and love for the souls of men. We have permitted affairs of the temporal world to crowd in and challenge our loyalty to the Lord. Time and energy are being frittered away in other directions until the call of Christ to complete discipleship has become lost in the maze of confusing cries and commotion that constitute life in the latter nineteen-fifties.

This situation, the loss of compulsion to be disciples as well as to make disciples of others, is not to be brushed lightly aside. Indeed, who will win the world to Christ, if His followers fall away? Can we expect "big business" education, the social services to do the job uniquely set aside for the Christian Church? Can we rightly expect non-Christians or, at best, nominal ones, to be the enthusiastic witnesses that Christians should be?

But, some may hasten to add, are we not making progress?

Sports Car Driver Dies In Crash

Lester Baumgardner Attended Races Here

KINGWOOD, W. Va., May 19 (AP)—Lester Baumgardner, 47, of (2914 Merrill Ave.) Huntington was killed late today when a car he was driving smashed into a tractor-trailer.

Preston County Prosecutor J.T. Dailey said the mishap occurred on a curve on U. S. 50 about two miles east of Fellowsville. Baumgardner's son, Charles, 16, was seriously hurt.

Dailey said the two were proceeding west on U. S. 50 en route to Huntington after attending auto races today in Cumberland, Md. They were riding in a 1957-model Jaguar.

The prosecutor related that the Baumgardners' vehicle apparently crossed onto the wrong side of the road, hit the left front wheel of the big truck and then smashed on beneath the other vehicle.

Charles Baumgardner was hospitalized at Grafton with internal injuries, shock, chest injuries and a left arm fracture. He was placed in an oxygen tent and was to be X-rayed tomorrow.

Authorities said the truck had been driven completely off the road on the right side, apparently to avoid striking the smaller vehicle. The truck driver was unhurt.

The St. Clair Funeral Home at Newburg, W. Va., where the elder Baumgardner's body was taken, said it had been reported that Mr. Baumgardner operated a Jaguar agency at Huntington. He had attended but had not participated in the Cumberland races.

The accident occurred at about 8:30 p. m.

Local Boy Injured By Truck

A local truck driver was scheduled to be questioned last night when he turned himself in at local police headquarters in connection with an accident on Wiley Ford bridge yesterday which resulted in injuries to a 12-year-old local boy.

Richard Shroyer of Locust Street, who was walking on the bridge when struck by a truck driven by Edward C. Haines, 309 Harrison Street, sustained a fracture of his right leg, and was treated at Memorial Hospital.

City Police Officer William C. Valentine said Haines and witnesses were to be questioned in the case. The Shroyer boy was reported to have been walking toward Cumberland from Wiley Ford and was facing traffic.

A car driven by Fred Green, of Davidsonville, Pa., in the direction of Cumberland stopped to allow the truck to pass on the narrow bridge. Mr. Green, police said, heard the screams of the boy and took him to the local hospital.

E. J. McDonald, of Route 3, city, and Herman Brant, 227 Race Street, traveling in a car behind the truck were reported to have followed the truck and reported the incident to West Virginia State Police, who advised Haines to report to Cumberland police.

Haines was reported to have proceeded toward Springfield, W. Va., and later turned himself in last night at police headquarters for questioning. The boy was taken to the hospital about 1:05 p. m.

Today's Sermonette

Today's Sermonette is a digest of a sermon preached at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Frostburg, by the pastor, Rev. William J. Yingling. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, Matthew 28:19-20

Obeying The Command Of Christ

By Rev. WM. J. YINGLING

More people are attending church than ever before. We have more Christians in America today than at anytime in previous history. These statistics may be small comfort to some, but let us not rest upon the oar of past accomplishment. There are still millions of Americans completely outside the church and millions more whose association with the church and whose real love for Jesus Christ is so far removed as to be almost non-existent. Of these our Lord said, "them also I must bring." There is no circumventing the critical need for forthright discipleship in America today.

The all-important question remains not "why" or "where" but "how." Here lies the importance of the personal commitment to Jesus Christ. Each Christian must want to be a disciple and a witness. Only those who have genuine zeal and the burden for souls of men, only those completely won to Christ themselves, can possibly win others. We cannot share what we do not possess ourselves. Those who would be witnesses and disciples to a nation in need must daily pray that Christ will so fill their lives that the desire to reach others will always be paramount. There is no short cut to discipleship. Jesus himself reminded his early followers, "he who would follow me must deny himself and take up his cross." The command to "go" is still the greatest imperative facing the Christian. No man can rest securely in his faith who does not listen and then go forth to lead.

Potomac River Unit To Meet In Staunton

Use Of Watersheds Will Be Featured

Cooperation in Watershed Management will be the theme of the spring meeting of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin in Staunton, Va., Thursday and Friday.

Delegates will be welcomed by John I. Rogers, Keyser, commission chairman, and L. B. Dietrick, V. P. I. dean of agriculture, and E. C. Flory, supervisor of the Shenandoah Valley Soil Conservation District.

Tour Is Planned

Addresses scheduled at the Thursday morning session include "What Happens When It Rains," by E. W. Mundie, V. P. I. soil conservationist; "South River Flood Control Project," by Frank Carr, Soil Conservation Service; "Role of the Local Watershed Association," Orville Flory, South River Watershed Association; "Watershed Conservation Program," Giles Miller Jr., Culpeper National Bank, and plans for a field trip by R. B. Warner, Soil Conservation Service.

A luncheon will be served at 12:30 p. m. in the Ingleside Hotel, headquarters for the meeting, followed by an afternoon tour of water conservation projects on the South River.

A social hour at 6:15 p. m. and a banquet at 7:15 p. m. featuring an address by Rep. Burr P. Harrison, Winchester, Va., will end the opening day's program.

Reports Slated

Friday's program includes "Nationwide Progress in the Small Watershed Program," Carl Brown, Soil Conservation Service; "Progress in the Potomac Study," Byron Bird, Corps of Engineers; panel discussion, "The People and Watershed Management" and a talk by Joseph F. Kaylor, chairman of the Potomac River Commission's land committee.

The meeting closes with a luncheon Friday at 12:30 p. m. with Joseph H. Daniel, chairman of the Virginia Soil Conservation Committee as speaker.

Standing committees will meet Wednesday at 8 p. m. in Staunton and report Friday morning.

Bus Catches Fire Near Red House

A number of passengers traveling on a Greyhound bus bound for Clarksburg, W. Va., were delayed yesterday afternoon when the bus caught fire along U. S. Route 50 about a mile west of Red House. No one was hurt.

Sheriff Paul Fisher, who investigated, and directed traffic during the delay, said volunteer firemen from Oakland went to the scene and quenched the flames.

The driver of the bus, which was traveling from Washington to Clarksburg, said fuel oil ran over the motor block and ignited. The rear of the bus was damaged considerably by the flames.

About 20 passengers were on the bus at the time the fire broke out. The driver called for another bus.

Among them are F. Brooke Whiting, president of the Cumberland Savings Bank, George A. Siebert, assistant treasurer of the Liberty Trust Company, Dr. Isaac L. Ritter, vice president of the Fidelity Savings Bank, Frostburg, and P. A. Laughlin, president of the First National Bank of Barton.

Area Firemen Holding Carnival

The Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company is sponsoring a carnival this week at the Cumberland Fair Grounds.

Charles Crawford, chairman, announced the Penn Premier Show will have rides and concessions and amusements for young and old. Proceeds will go to the volunteer fire company. A kiddie's matinee will be held on Saturday afternoon at which time prizes will be awarded. The carnival will be held nightly through Saturday.

Parish Buffet Dinner Planned Wednesday

The spring parish dinner at Emmanuel Episcopal Church will be held, buffet style, Wednesday from 5:30 to 7 p. m. in the parish house.

A fortune teller will give readings to a limited number of persons during the evening. Tickets will be available at the door, but the committee recommends that advance reservations be made with Mrs. Francis Sweeney, Phone PA 2-0679 or Mrs. John Geare, Phone PA 4-5505.

The dinner, sponsored by St. Christopher and St. Anne's Circle, is the final one to raise funds for the balance on a new organ shop.

Homemade Sports Car

Bill Wissel and R. C. Rice of Pittsburgh perch on their homemade "sports car" from which they watched the Cumberland National Sports Car Races yesterday at Municipal Airport. The whastit even managed to get into a race—the "First Annual Calamity Cup" — with a similar gadget operated by two other enthusiasts, between the regular races. The car is powered by a 150 cc. Briggs and Stratton engine. A crowd estimated at 45,000 saw the day-long races.

PTA Workshop Is Planned By County Council

Allegheny County Council of Parent Teacher Associations will sponsor a workshop or "School of Instruction" at Frostburg State Teachers College, Thursday, May 23, according to Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman, president.

The event is open to all interested members of the PTA throughout the county, but will be of special interest to officers, potential chairmen, principals and teachers and to various committee members, Mrs. Shafferman said.

Subjects to be covered include "Program Planning" with Mrs. Britten Martin and Robert Jones; "Juvenile Protection" with former magistrate Morris Baron and Homer Higgins, leaders; "Conducting A Model Meeting," Dr. Adam Baer in charge; and "Membership," Mrs. Kermit Giotflety, Dr. Lillia C. Compton will talk on "Life Memberships and Scholarships" at this session.

Registration will be held in the old gym at the college from 6:45 to 7:15 p. m. Mrs. Byron Bonebrake and Mrs. Lester McGill are registrars.

At the opening session at 7:30, Dr. Baer will preside with the invocation by Mrs. Calvin Keiter, R. Bowen Hardesty, college president, will bring greetings and Mrs. Benjamin Lewis will make announcements.

The instruction committees for the council workshop include Dr. Baer and Mrs. Shafferman, instruction; Mrs. Baer and Robert Jones, arrangements; Mrs. Lawrence Kyle, publicity; and Mrs. Keiter, Mrs. John Lower, Mrs. George Buckalew and Mrs. James Snelson, hospitality.

Since refreshments are to be served, Mrs. Shafferman noted, it is necessary that each PTA president notify Mrs. Benjamin Lewis at PA 2-6833, of the number of representatives expected to attend. The goal is a minimum of six from each county unit.

Couple Injured In Sports Car Crash

A Philadelphia couple, in Cumberland for the Sports Car Races, were admitted to Memorial Hospital last night with injuries sustained in a one-car crash on Old Furnace Road.

Hal Kirby, and his wife, Doris, both 34, suffered lacerations of the face and bruises. They were driving along the highway and due to the slippery conditions skidded off the road and crashed.

Street Lighting Meeting Tomorrow

The Light and Improvement Association of Corrigville will meet tomorrow night at the fire hall to discuss a street lighting ceremony for that community.

The meeting, according to Gordon Werner, president, has been set for 8 p. m. The meeting was originally set for last Friday but was cancelled because of two other meetings.

On Wednesday, May 15, street lights were switched on in Corrigville after being tested and found satisfactory by the Potomac Edison Company.

Information Filed Against Suspect

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher has filed a criminal information in Allegheny County Circuit Court charging William Franklin Radcliff, this city, with statutory burglary.

Radcliff is charged with breaking into the Norris and Sons Inc. store on Wineoak Street and stealing $90. Through his attorney, William H. Geppert, Radcliff several days ago petitioned for an immediate trial.

Posse Finds Suspect In Slaying

RANDALLSTOWN, Md., May 19 (AP)—The fugitive from Springfield State Hospital captured yesterday by a posse of 115 men has been committed to a ward for the criminally insane.

State police said today 33-year-old William E. Ambrose was committed to Spring Grove State Hospital in Catonsville by Dr. Robert E. Gardner, superintendent of the Springfield hospital.

The posse which captured Ambrose in only three hours was directed by a State police officer in an airplane. Ambrose had fled the hospital Tuesday night after fatally stabbing a fellow patient.

The man hunt came to an end when Ambrose surrendered to State Trooper George Wachter about 5½ miles northeast of Sykesville, where Springfield State is located.

The hunt was directed by Lt. John P. Novicki, commander of the State Police barracks here. He flew over the area in an airplane piloted by Cpl. Robert Wolfe—radioing orders to the ground party.

"This was the only way to do it," Novicki said later. "We accomplished more in three hours than we could have in three days of searching."

Lt. Novicki had the possemen keep bunched together in the wooded area being searched, so a lone figure would stand out. When he spotted a man walking near an open field, the men closed in and the search was over.

The posses included 15 troopers, 25 Jesuit seminarians from Woodstock College, 25 Sykesville volunteer firemen and 50 other civilians.

Police launched the search after receiving a tip that Ambrose was seen in a vacant house.

Victim of the stabbing at Sykesville was Randolph McDonald, 59-year-old native of Barton in Allegheny County and a patient in the hospital for 18 years.

Dr. Robert E. Gardner, superintendent at Springfield State, said the two men sought shelter when a storm came up and apparently got into some kind of altercation with the stabbing resulting. Both had freedom of the grounds.

The Order of Malta will be conferred by Ralph Shipley, commander. Refreshments will be served following the ceremonies.

Robert M. Shuck and Leroy E. Kimes are in charge of arrangements.

Clinics Are Planned

The Health Department will hold child health clinics today at 9:30 a. m. in City Hall, tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. at Penn Avenue School, Thursday at 10 a. m. in Frostburg and Friday at 9:30 a. m. in Flintstone.

Glass Plant Fire Brigade Learns Hose, Ladder Work

Members of the fire brigade of A graduation program is planned for next month. The course instructor was Joseph Wenrich.

Mr. Robertson also attended a graduation exercise at Frostburg, where a number of firemen took the course which was instructed by William Wilson of Midland.

Officers of the Allegheny-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association also met at Frostburg. Similar conferences are held throughout the state, which is divided into eight areas.

Mr. Robertson is the newest member of the Extension force, having joined the organization last August. He completed a fire protection course at Oklahoma A&M and also completed studies at the University of Southern California, specializing in fire administration by the Extension Service.

Foundation Says Pupil-Teacher Ratio Decreases

The number of teachers in the nation's classrooms is currently increasing at a faster rate than pupils entering public schools, according to the Tax Foundation, Inc.

Advancing salary levels are "probably the chief contributor to the increasing popularity of the classroom," the Foundation's Monthly Tax Features observed. In the ten-year span from 1948 through 1957 instructional salaries have "moved upward 64 per cent from an average of $2,639 to $4,330," said the Foundation.

"The rise is less pronounced when salaries are adjusted to changes in living costs over the ten years but allowing for those changes the increase in the purchasing power of teachers' salaries between 1948 and 1957 was 40 per cent," said the Foundation.

The foundation's publication notes that "despite recent annual increases of more than one million pupils per year, the ratio of pupils per teacher has dropped from 27.6 in 1954 to 26.3 in 1956."

The foundation, a non-profit organization, is engaged in research on government spending and taxation. Its purpose is to aid in the development of more efficient government at less cost to the taxpayer. It also serves as a national information agency for organized taxpayer research groups throughout the country.

Nine Injured In Series Of Road Crashes

Two Local Persons Reported Critical

Nine persons were injured in a series of highway accidents over the weekend.

The most serious accident occurred Saturday evening in Garrett County when three local persons were injured, two of them critically, in a one-car crash.

In the other accidents: a sports car driver was hospitalized Saturday afternoon when his Jaguar was hit broadside on Oldtown Road nine miles east of Cumberland; two children were hospitalized Saturday evening after an accident one mile east of Grantsville on U. S. Route 40; a local man was hospitalized Saturday night as a result of a crash on McMullen Highway at Bowling Green and two sailors were hurt when the car in which they were riding skidded off W. Va. Route 28 near Buffalo Hollow Road three miles north of Romney.

Two Are 'Critical'

Raymond Wempe, 28, of 126 Wempe Drive, and Mrs. Patricia (Christ) Trenton, 29, of 527 Greene Street, are in "critical" condition at Meyersdale Community Hospital. Her daughter, Cynthia Trenton, 10, is in "fair" condition.

Mr. Wempe, an employee of the National Shirt Shop here, who was the driver of the car, sustained chest injuries, according to a Meyersdale physician. Mrs. Trenton who is an employee of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company sustained chest injuries and internal injuries and is scheduled to undergo surgery today if her condition permits.

Her daughter sustained a fractured pelvis and head injuries.

Skids, Hits Trees

The crash occurred about 8 p. m. Saturday as Mr. Wempe was traveling along U. S. Route 219 about three miles south of Keyser's Ridge off U. S. Route 40.

Cpl. Samuel Conrad, who investigated with Trooper Joseph Stakem, said Mr. Wempe attempted to negotiate a left turn but the vehicle went out of control on the wet highway.

It careened across the road, traveled about 60 feet to the left of the road and struck two trees. The car struck the first tree and then swerved broadside into the second tree.

The victims were taken to the Meyersdale hospital in an ambulance from Grantsville.

The car is a total wreck. It was practically wrapped around the tree by the impact.

Sports Car In Crash

In the sports car accident, William Cato, 31, of 9 West Tabb Street, Petersburg, Va., was admitted to Memorial Hospital with a possible fractured skull, abrasions and lacerations of the face. His condition last night was reported "satisfactory."

He was taken to the hospital by James Monahan and Richard E. Turner, city, who were driving behind Cato in another car.

State Trooper J. H. Sweitzer said a 1957 car operated by James C. Twigg, 21, of near Oldtown, rounded a curve while heading south on Maryland Route 51.

Cato's machine was headed north toward Cumberland and was on the wrong side of the road, said the trooper. He said the sports car would not have been hit had Twigg not applied his brakes too hard. The Twigg car skidded across the center line and hit the left side of the sports car, which by that time was back in the proper lane.

Three-Car Collision

Trooper Stakem said Ronald E. Tressler, 11, and Cheryl Tressler, nine, of Grantsville, were admitted to the Meyersdale hospital with injuries sustained in a three-car crash near Grantsville.

The boy sustained lacerations of his face, and his sister suffered

FATHER SYLVAN

Father Sylvan To Celebrate Silver Jubilee

Rev. Sylvan B. Fondriest, O. F. M. Cap., assistant pastor of St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, will celebrate his silver jubilee as a priest at a Solemn High Mass here June 9 at 9:30 a. m.

The festive sermon during the Mass in St. Peter and Paul Church will be delivered by Very Rev. Boniface Weckman, O. F. M. Cap., Charleston, W. Va., who was pastor of the local church from 1932 to 1942.

A parish reception will be held in Father Sylvan's honor June 9 from 2 to 4 p. m. in the parish hall.

Father Sylvan will celebrate a similar Solemn Mass in his home parish, St. Joseph's Church, Dover, Ohio, on June 16 at 11 a. m. (EST). Father Boniface will also preach the festive sermon in Dover.

Father Sylvan was reared in Dover, a son of the late Jacob and Adelle Fondriest.

Entering the Capuchin novitiate in 1926, he completed his philosophy course at Victoria, Kan., and studied theology at St. Peter and Paul Monastery here in 1929 and 1930, completing his studies at Capuchin College, Washington, in 1932.

Father Sylvan was ordained to the priesthood June 14, 1932, and celebrated his first Solemn Mass in St. Joseph's Church at Dover on June 19, 1932.

He served 10 years in Rochester, Pa., six years in St. Louis, six years in Pittsburgh and a year as chaplain in St. Francis Hospital, Charleston, before coming here last August as assistant pastor.

Crossing Gates To Be Checked

The Mayor and Council will meet at the Valley Street crossing today at 11:30 a. m. to inspect new automatic gates and traffic signals at four grade crossings, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

Meeting with them will be representatives of the Signal Department of the B&O, which is completing the $118,500 installation.

The technical inspection is slated to be made this afternoon by C. R. Nuzum, city engineer.

Mayor Eves said a formal ceremony is planned when the system is placed into operation May 28.

Smorgasbord Tonight

McKinley Chapter 12, Order of Eastern Star, will hold a smorgasbord this evening from 5 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. at the Masonic Temple on Greene Street.

Today's Sermonette

Today's Sermonette is a digest of a sermon preached at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Frostburg, by the pastor, Rev. William J. Yingling. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Go therefore and make disciples of all nations. Matthew 28:19-20

Obedying The Command Of Christ

By Rev. WM. J. YINGLING

Christians in every age have taken their "marching orders" from this directive of Jesus Christ, spoken to his disciples shortly before he left them. It remains even to the present day our one clear and concise command to win the world for Him.

It should be easy to interpret such a simple directive as this, yet men in every generation have hesitated to be bold and forthright as ambassadors for Jesus Christ. Somewhere along the way we have lost some of our Master's zeal and love for the souls of men. We have permitted affairs of the temporal world to crowd in and challenge our loyalty to the Lord. Time and energy are being frittered away in other directions until the call of Christ to complete discipleship has become lost in the maze of confusing cries and commotion that constitute life in the latter nineteen-fifties.

This situation, the loss of compulsion to be disciples as well as to be brushed lightly aside. Indeed, who will win the world to Christ, if his followers fall away? Can we expect "big business," education, the social services to do the job uniquely set aside for the Christian Church? Can we rightly expect non-Christians or, at best, nominal ones, to be the enthusiastic witnesses that Christians should be?

But, some may hasten to add, are we not making progress?

Sports Car Driver Dies In Crash

Lester Baumgardner Attended Races Here

KINGWOOD, W. Va., May 19 (AP)—Lester Baumgardner, 47, of (2914 Merrill Ave.) Huntington was killed late today when a car he was driving smashed into a tractor-trailer.

Preston County Prosecutor J.T. Dailey said the mishap occurred on a curve on U. S. 50 about two miles east of Fellowship. Baumgardner's son, Charles, 16, was seriously hurt.

Dailey said the two were proceeding west on U. S. 50 en route to Huntington after attending auto races today in Cumberland, Md. They were riding in a 1957-model Jaguar.

The prosecutor related that the Baumgardners' vehicle apparently crossed onto the wrong side of the road, hit the left front wheel of the big truck and then smashed on beneath the other vehicle.

Charles Baumgardner was hospitalized at Grafton with internal injuries, shock, chest injuries and a left arm fracture. He was placed in an oxygen tent and was to be X-rayed tomorrow.

Authorities said the truck had been driven completely off the road on the right side, apparently to avoid striking the smaller vehicle. The truck driver was unhurt.

The St. Clair Funeral Home at Newburg, W. Va., where the elder Baumgardner's body was taken, said it had been reported that Mr. Baumgardner operated a Jaguar agency at Huntington. He had attended but had not participated in the Cumberland races.

The accident occurred at about 8:30 p. m.

Local Boy Injured By Truck

A local truck driver was scheduled to be questioned last night when he turned himself in at local police headquarters in connection with an accident on Wiley Ford bridge yesterday which resulted in injuries to a 12-year-old local boy.

Richard Shroyer of Locust Street, who was walking on the bridge when struck by a truck driven by Edward C. Haines, 309 Harrison Street, sustained a fracture of his right leg, and was treated at Memorial Hospital.

City Police Officer William C. Valentine said Haines and witnesses were to be questioned in the case. The Shroyer boy was reported to have been walking toward Cumberland from Wiley Ford and was facing traffic.

A car driven by Fred Green, of Davidsonville, Pa., in the direction of Cumberland stopped to allow the truck to pass on the narrow bridge. Mr. Green, police said, heard the screams of the boy and took him to the local hospital.

E. J. McDonald, of Route 3, city, and Herman Brant, 227 Race Street, traveling in a car behind the truck were reported to have followed the truck and reported the incident to West Virginia State Police, who advised Haines to report to Cumberland police.

Haines was reported to have proceeded toward Springfield, W. Va., and later turned himself in last night at police headquarters for questioning. The boy was taken to the hospital about 1:05 p. m.

The number of teachers in the nation's classrooms is currently increasing at a faster rate than pupils entering public schools, according to the Tax Foundation, Inc.

Advancing salary levels are "probably the chief contributor to the increasing popularity of the classroom," the Foundation's Monthly Tax Features observed. In the ten-year span from 1948 through 1957 instructional salaries have "moved upward 64 per cent from an average of $2,639 to $4,330," said the Foundation.

"The rise is less pronounced when salaries are adjusted to changes in living costs over the ten years but allowing for those changes the increase in the purchasing power of teachers' salaries from 1948 and 1957 was 40 per cent," said the Foundation.

The foundation's publication notes that "despite recent annual increases of more than one million pupils per year, the ratio of pupils per teacher has dropped from 27.6 in 1954 to 26.3 in 1956."

The foundation, a non-profit organization, is engaged in research on government spending and taxation. Its purpose is to aid in the development of more efficient government at less cost to the taxpayer. It also serves as a national information agency for organized taxpayer research groups throughout the country.

Allan P. Miller Is Outstanding Catholic Layman

Education Stressed By Brother Philip

A member of St. Peter's parish in Westernport, Allan P. Miller, of Luke, was named outstanding Catholic layman of Western Maryland yesterday morning during a communion breakfast held by Men Of LaSalle at St. Patrick's Social Center.

Brother Francis Philip, professor of English at LaSalle Hall, Ammendale, and former instructor at LaSalle High School here, told the seniors of the school who were guests of honor, that they are fortunate in having the advantages of a Catholic education, "fortunate insofar as you may thereby more easily save your souls."

"The salvation of your immortal soul," he said, "depends upon your strength of will. It is your will that your Catholic education has tried to strengthen without at all neglecting the other facilities of the intellect."

"The Brothers at LaSalle and before them the Sisters in the grades have taught you that God is the first principle of life and truth and love. Determine now as you come to the close of your Catholic high school training that you will remain firm always to the principles of your faith. If you do, you will be happy, useful Catholic laymen."

Outlines Aims

Toastmaster for the breakfast was John J. Long, who outlined the aims of the Men of LaSalle and their accomplishments in the past year. He introduced the past presidents in attendance, Brother Paulian, FSC, principal of LaSalle High School, John Pica, member of the Baltimore City Council, and Brother Nicholas, moderator of Men Of LaSalle, who introduced Brother Philip.

Former judge William C. Walsh introduced Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro of Baltimore who paid tribute to the Christian Brothers, "whose devoted and inspiring example over half a century has proven of such lasting worth, not only in Allegany County but throughout Western Maryland," he said.

"The spirit and the worthy objectives of LaSalle," he said, "are being perpetuated by the Men of LaSalle, a fact which reflects credit upon the individuals and which serves as assurance of continuation of the high ideals ever maintained by the Christian Brothers."

Mayor D'Alessandro told the 150 persons in attendance that "in our discussion of the existence of the various freedoms we are upon the very soil which has nurtured the seeds of these freedoms since the earliest days of settlement along the Atlantic Seaboard."

"Not only that, but the graduates of LaSalle and other institutions in our state have been encouraged to manifest their steadfast adherence to the ideals and the principles which have brought our nation to its present pre-eminent position."

Presents Award

"With false principles espoused by Godless leaders elsewhere in the world, it is essential that the future citizens, who today are in the classrooms of our high schools and other institutions of learning, be afforded the right kind of education."

The mayor presented the award to Mr. Miller, who is the father of eight children. Those of school age are pupils at St. Peter's Parochial School in Westernport.

A past grand knight of Piedmont Council 685, Knights of Columbus, Mr. Miller is vice president of the Western Maryland Section of the Holy Name Society and president of St. Peter's Holy Name Society, and is active in parish affairs.

His name was submitted by Rev. Linus Robinson, pastor of St. Peter's. A total of 11 men were candidates for the award.
